VIEWING THE DEFENDER.

Thousands Gaze on Her at the Erie Basin, Where She Was Dry Docked.

New York, Sept. 1.—The Defender attracted several thousand people to Erie basin, where she was dry docked this morning to have her bronze hull put in shape for the coming contest with Valkyrie III for the blue ribbon of the sea. The Manganez bronze under body was in very good condition, but men worked at it all day, polishing the metal with sandpaper and filing down boltheads until it presented a perfectly smooth surface and shone in the sunlight like burnished gold. The boom does not look to be half as heavy as the lighter one of the two which Dunraven's boat has used. As hollow steel booms were first used in England, and the fact that the Valkyrie was to have one was kept secret until almost the last moment, the Yankee ingenuity, which has taken up the English idea and vastly improved upon it in time to fit the Defender with boom and gaff far superior to the Valkyrie's is to be commended.

There were absolutely no signs of injury to the hull from the various groundings the Defender had at Hog island and Newport. The Defender will leave the dock early to-morrow morning and go to Sandy Hook for a spin.

His Turn Came.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 31.—Henry C. Worley, the famous moonshiner, nearly two years ago turned against his fellows in Murray county and was slain by them. Among those prominent in informing upon the murderers of the moonshiner was Rev. J. S. Hooker. His neighbors, discovering that he was an informer, visited his house one night, took him and his son out and gave them 150 lashes each, with a warning to leave the county forever.

Hooker brought his family to Atlanta. Here his wife, who was a hard-working woman, took boarders. Among the boarders was a fair widow, with whom the preacher eloped after a few days and wandered back to the neighborhood whence he came. There he was arrested, charged with violating the State liquor law, for which he was convicted, and sentenced to 12 months on the chain gang. This sentence he began to serve out yesterday.

Met At The Fair.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 1.—Harry Churchill, formerly of Kalamazoo, Mich., now of Pittsburgh, and Miss Ava Keifer of Pittsburgh were married yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Pfister at 3.30 o'clock by the Rev. Humsberger.

Mr. Churchill first met his bride at the World's fair in Chicago and it was a case of love at first sight. They corresponded with each other after the fair was over, and recently decided to get married. Saturday the couple, accompanied by Mrs. J. Grazier, an aunt of the bride, and Mrs. J. A. Deeds, a cousin of the bride, left Pittsburgh for Chicago, where they intended to procure a license, They found the court house closed and so they decided to come to Milwaukee. Mrs. Grazier is said to be quite wealthy and will establish the groom in business.

Threats of Lynching Freely Made.

Marlboro, Md., Sept. 1.—Sheriff Dove and his deputies are guarding the county jail here tonight to prevent an attempt to lynch John Davidge, a 19 year old colored boy, who is locked up charged with attempting to feloniously assault 8 year-old Emma Stewart. The attempted crime was made on Friday during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart from their home in Kent district, Prince George county. Davidge made no attempt to escape and was arrested on the following morning. The neighborhood is aroused and threats of lynching are freely made.

Tacoma May Erupt.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 1—The mountain climbers who returned to-night from Mount Tacoma report steam, smoke and gas belching from the foot of the Nisqually glacier, where the Nisqually river has its source. The people up the Nisqually river valley would not be greatly surprised if the mountain was to begin belching lava, At the rim of the crater southeast of Columbia crest, the ground is quite warm, notwithstanding the arctic atmosphere of the summit. Steam comes out of the crater at what particular point more freely than any other part.

Tobacco His Weakness.

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 1.—G. P. Allen this morning shot his wife and step daughter Minnie Deffenbaugh. The latter's wound is fatal. The wife will recover. Allen sat on the porch after the shooting and kept his neighbors at bay with his revolver for an hour. Fnally he called for tobacco and a match. They were taken to him, and as he lighted his pipe he was overpowered.

ATTEMT AT TRAIN WRECKING.

Made Late on Saturday Night on the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 1.—An attempt was made late on Saturday night to wreck an express train on the Lehigh Valley railroad, near Port Bowkley. John Grady who had been in Pittston and on his way home to Port Griffith, discovered a lot of timber piled upon the track.

He looked at his watch and, being familiar with the running of trains at that point, discovered that No. 3 passenger train was due within ten minutes. There was a lamp post nearby at a crossing, he ran to it, removed the lamp and hurried down the track in time to give a signal. The engineer, on seeing the waving lamp, pulled up and stopped his train. He was informed by Griffith that there was danger ahead. On reaching the spot it took six of the crew to remove the debris, which took a full half hour.

Suspicion rests upon a party of men who were seen in the neighborhood a few hours before, and their arrest is expected hourly.

Fortune for a Mill Man.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Sept. 1—Edward Thornton, a well-known mill man of this place, formerly with the Carnegie Steel Company, will start for England in a few days to receive a fortune of $100,000. This money is from the estate of his father who died some time ago, but it was not until a few weeks back that Thornton was located by his father's attorneys. The heirs to the estate are Thornton and his sister, who lives in Ohio. Thornton came to this country a number of years ago and his family in England had lost trace of him.

Two Days Too Late.

Los Angele's, Cal., Sept 1.—Col. John Bradbury, the young millionaire, who left three months ago with his wife to make a tour of the world in ninety days on a wager, has returned two days too late to win the thousands which he had at stake. They lost two days by missing the west bound steamer at Southampton. At Hong Kong, while in their sedan chairs, their coolies were attacked by natives. The colonel's porters, backed up by American arms, won the fight.

Too Gay for France.

Bayonne, France, Sept. 1.—The police invaded a bull ring, where a fight was in progress to-day and stopped the first of a series of intended fights and conducted the celebrated torero, Mazzantini, to the Spanish frontier.

The populace of the town hooted the police and the municipal officers. Senators and deputies of the town vainly pleaded for permission for the fights to occur. The municipal authorities thereupon met and decided to resign, which decision caused the inhabitants to offer them a great ovation.

Bold Attempt at Robbery.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Shortly before noon to-day, while Cashier Raymond O'Connell, of the Masonic Temple association, was taking money from the safe, a young man approached him from behind and grabbed a cash box containing $750. The thief started down State street with his plunder, followed by 500 citizens, and was captured by a policeman. During his flight he threw the money into a garbage box and it was recovered. Certain suspicious circumstances led the police to closely question Cashier O'Connell, who finally confessed that the robbery was planned by himself. He says the thief is James Gordon, of Louisville.

Hastings Quite Tired.

New York, Sept. 1.—Governor Hastings, of Pennsylvania, is quartered at the Holland House, trying to recover from the fatigue of presiding over the recent Republican convention of the Keystone state. He takes his meals in his room, and yesterday morning gave orders to have no cards brought up to him. And that' why this item is brief.

THE BODY OF PITEZEL.

It Was Again Exhumed at Philadelphia on Saturday.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—The body of Benjamin F. Pitezel, whom H. H. Holmes is accused of having murdered, and which was exhumed last Saturday for the purpose of removing the skull from the trunk, was dug up again to-day by order of District Attorney Graham. A portion of one of the legs of the corpse was amputated and parts of the clothing of the dead man were secured for the purpose of making more complete the identification of the remains as that of Pitezel. Little doubt remains that the grand jury will soon be called upon to indict Holmes for the murder of Pitezel, and that Mrs. Pitezel is to be brought to Philadelphia to identify the teeth in the skull and a scar on the leg that was amputated to-day.

As early as 7 o'clock this morning the grave digger at the American Mechanics' cemetery started for the second time to unearth Pitezel's remains. The coffin was removed to a shed and in an hour Dr. Mattern stepped out with a suspicious looking satchel in his hand. It contained part of the right leg of the corpse which the doctors had amputated, and portions of the dead man's coat and trousers.

District Attorney Graham had the leg amputated to add to the evidence that the body is unmistakably that of Pitezel. For this purpose the skull was removed last Saturday, as the peculiarly marked teeth of Pitezel will offer almost certain identification. Attorney Shoemaker, counsel for Holmes, stated to-day that he had no doubt that District Attorney Graham would prosecute the case in Philadelphia, and the Holmes defense was ready. He thought the weakness of the case against his client was displayed in the extreme measure of exhuming the body to obtain slender threads of evidence that it was that of Pitezel.

—The thirteenth annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Altoona district, Central Pennsylvania M. E. conference, will be held at Philipsburg on Thursday and Friday of this week, September 5 and 6. A regular program is prepared and it will doubtless be an interesting occasion for those who may find it convenient to attend. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Rev. R. H. Gilbert, of Tyrone, will respond to fraternal greetings. On Thursday evening Miss Mary Danforth, who has a wide reputation as a strong and effective worker in the mission cause, will deliver one of her characteristic addresses. Those who have heard Miss Danforth say that she is an attractive talker and presents her argument in such a way that she rivets the attention of her audience upon her from the start to the end of her lecture. Miss Jennie Gheer, will give practical talks at the close of each session.

And Will Win Their Suits.

Centralia, Ill., Sept. 3.—The two school buildings set apart by the school board for the use of negro pupils were empty today, as they were yesterday when the school commenced. The buildings are in every way as well equipped as those of the white schools and provided with competent teachers but the negroes will not use them. The blacks demand admission to all schools and threaten suit for damages for interfering with their rights of citizenship. The whites threaten retaliation by refusing employment to black men.

Hunting After a Shortage.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 3.—C. A. Pfingsten, inspector for the American Surety company af Philadelphia, is in Reading. He has just completed a partial examination of the books of the late M. E. Geiger, who died recently. Geiger was superintendent of the South Reading Market House company for twenty-three years. It is alleged that a shortage of over $2,000 was found in his accounts. The American Surety company was security in the amount of $2.000. Geiger was a democratic candidate for sheriff last fall.

Marriage Licenses.

Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by Orphans' Court Clerk, G. W. Rumberger, during the past week:

Edgar G. Shaw and Mamie A. Stull of Blanchard.

Charles G. Devinney and Rella M. Flegal, of Philipsburg.

Proud of Her Knickerbockers.

Albia, Ia., Sept. 1.—Lucia B. Griffo appeared upon the streets yesterday in knickerbockers. She went to a livery stable, ordered a horse saddled, and, astride in her knickerbockers, rode over the city and made many calls upon her women friends. Some of them fled from her in dismay, and none went to the pavement to greet her.

SWINDLER FRANTER CAPTURED

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 2.—Living in the wilds of northern Minnesota, fifty miles from a postoffice, with only a boy for a companion, Dr. George W. Franter, who planned one of the most gigantic and successful insurance swindles of modern times, was captured by officers who have been on his track for the past two years. Up to Aug. 12 last there was a standing reward for his arrest offered by the insurance companies.

In the latter part of 1893, Dr. George W. Franter was physician to the St. Elmo hotel, the leading hotel in Excelsior Springs, a famous health resort near Kansas City. Together with seven or eight companions, the doctor went fishing on the Missouri river one day and after dark, while in the company of George Harry, James Triplet and Jake Crowley, a negro, he disappeared and was seen no more. These three parties afterwards swore positively that they witnessed his drowning while rowing in a leaky boat, but after a strict search his body could not be recovered.

Some three or four months previous to this he began loading up with life insurance, taking $10,000 in the Kansas Mutual Life, of Topeka, $15,000 in the Hartford Life and Annuity, $15,000 in the Providence Saving Life, of New York, and $8,000 in the benevolent societies of that place, a total of $48,000. Immediately after his disappearance the insurance companies held a conference and discovered that, while the doctor's income was only about $,800 a year, his premiums amounted to $,000 annually, and that George Harry and James Triplet, who swore to having witnessed Franter's death, were men of bad character. They immediately set on bot plans for his capture, with the above sults.

Seventh Cavalry Reunion.

The seventh Regiment Pennsylvania Veteran Volunteer Cavalry, the famous "sabre regiment of the army of the Cumberland," will hold its 18th annual reunion at Pittsburg, October 22d and 23d. The arrangements are that the veterans will be entertained free of charge, an excursion will be given on the Ohio on one of the steamboats that took the regiment to Louisville Ky., in 1861.

On the evening of the 23d the citizens of the "stoky city" will tender a banquet in the old City Hall, where the "boys" were fed in '61, January and March '94, and August '65. Send to Captain George F. Steahli, secretary, 2169 Wylie avenue, Pittsburg for orders for reduced fare any time after October 8th.

All survivors of the regiment are requested to take their wives, sons and daughters with them. It is especially desired that the "boys" from this section of the State turn out to a man.

Regular Cowboy Fashion.

East Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—After stealing $600, besides clothing and revolvers, Charles Houghtellen was shot and mortally wounded by Benjamin Tripp, alias "Texas Jack," a cowboy. The affair occurred at Reeder's near here, Sunday afternoon. Houghtellen and his mother, who poses as "Nemo, the white witch of Mexico," were members of the stranded "Buck Taylor Wild West show," with Tripp. They have been giving exhibitions of rough riding and shooting in the towns nearby and had accumulated several hundreds dollars. While Tripp was asleep the mother and son chloroformed him and decamped. The cowboy came up with the runaway pair on the mountains and shot the son three times. Tripp is now in jail.

The Squirrel Season Opens.

The squirrel season opened on Sunday and the first legal day for killing was, therefore, Monday. Quite a number of nimrods went to the woods to try their luck, but the returns were not overwhelming; although, it is said, that the roasting ears were easily gathered, and these make a very good showing placed beneath a hunting jacket.

How queer it is that when a man succeeds in bagging a good bunch of squirrel, he walks proudly up the front street to his home, but if his returns are nil, how prone he is to seek an avenue to his home through the alleys and an entrance by the back gate. Even Bellefonte clergymen will take such a route in preference to a more public one. But then, some other time, when the squirrel have become more plentiful, sportsmen may have better luck.

WAS ONLY A SCARE.

No Death Resulted From Cholera on the Steamer Belgic.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Surgeon General Wymen, of the Marine hospital service, has instituted an original investigation into the facts in regard to the arrival of the steamer Belgic at San Francisco. This is the steamer that is supposed to have brought cholera-infected Chinese and Japanese to Honolulu, and then to have proceeded to San Francisco, where her steerage passengers passed the quarantine officials and were landed. Press reports stated that the Belgic landed at San Francisco with three dead Chinamen in the steerage, all of whom had died from cholera.

August 31 Surgeon General Wyman wired Dr. Godfrey, in charge of the Marine hospital at San Francisco, giving him an abstract of the press dispatches and directing him to investigate them. A repl was received from Dr. Godfrey to-day, stating that these Chinamen did not die from cholera. No evidence has been adduced tending to show that there was cholera on Belgic at any time, either before or after leaving China, but the Marine hospital service taking the worst view of the case and acting upon the supposition that cholera did exist, is looking into the whole matter thoroughly and within a few days all the steerage passengers will be located.

A report received at the Marine hospital service this morning shows there were in Japan between Jan. 1, 1895, and July 19 of this year, 7,001 cases of cholera and 4,804 deaths. In 1879 and 1886 the disease assumed the most violent form, there being 162,637 cases and 105,786 deaths in 1879 and 156,723 cases and 108,490 deaths in 1886. These figures are taken from the reports of the secretaries of the provisional governors.

A Terrible Forest Fire Raging.

Cape May, N. J., Sept. 3.—A change of the wind to the south gave the forest fire which broke out near Woodbine yesterday, fresh impetus this afternoon, and it is burning with awful fury. Its line is said to extend for forty miles and the flames are eating their way with great rapidity toward Egg Harbor.

It is the worst woods fire in years. Gangs of men are out fighting with might and main to stop its onward rush by backfiring, but they are making but slight headway. Residents are fleeing from their homes which are endangered. Dense masses of smoke and flying cinders are driven before the brisk winds and passengers on the railroad trains are almost stifled. They describe the fire as very alarming.

The Eclipse of the Moon.

Washington, Sept. 3.—From the early part of the evening, when the moon first entered the partial shadow, until 1 o'clock a. m., when there is total eclipse, there has been as clear a sky for observing the spectacle as ever happened before and many watched with interest the changes presented from the entrance into penumbra until the rough eclipse. Such a common astronomical event as an eclipse of the moon caused little, if any, extraordinary attention from the officials at the naval observatory, but many laymen in the science and numerous others, attracted by the cool and clear September night, lingered long beyond their usual hours for retiring and watched the display in the sky from the early tinging of shadow until totality.

Veterans May Meet.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 3.—The executive committee of the cotton states and international exposition has invited the veterans of the federal and confederate armies to come here on Blue and Gray Day, Sept. 21. It is expected to be one of the greatest days on the exposition calendar.

There will be 100,000 Grand army of the Republic men in Chattanooga on the 19th and 20th, and it is expected that fully one-half of the crowd there will come to Atlanta on Blue and Gray Day. Thousand of confederate veterans will also come and with the general influx of visitors an estimate of 100,000 in attendance on that day is considered a safe one.

National Guard Notes.

The shoot of the National Guard at Mt. Gretna last week was marred by the rain, and in consequence the shooting was not what was expected. The regimental match on Thursday was again won by the Thirteenth regiment. Private Young made a score of 99 out of possible 105. The brigade match was won by the First brigade by the narrow margin of 2.

W. F. DeForrest, of Huntingdon, has been selected from the Fifth regiment to represent Pennsylvania at the Interstate and Hinton trophy matches this week at Sea Girt, N. J. The team will meet some of the finest shots in the United States and hope to land near the top.

Senator Quay's Magnanimity.

Senator Quay has greatly strengthened himself with the Republicans not only of Pennsylvania but of the whole country by the magnanimity he displayed toward his opponents when he found himself in complete and undoubted control of a majority of the uncontested delegates to the convention. The Harrisburg Telegraph says: "Notwithstanding the fact that he knew, when the morning light came, the knowledge of his victory would not only fix firmly the allegiance of those present at the caucus but of some others who had heretofore been wavering, upon the principle that nothing succeeds like success, he magnanimously made a proposition that not only prevented trouble at the convention but assured the support of a united party for its nominees. This magnanimity is as commendable as it is unusual. The writer heard him say only within a few weeks that a political leader who would lead with success must not be vindictive, and he must have a short memory for injuries done him by his opponents. Acting as he has upon this principle he has saved the party of the State from division and defeat."

The Philadelphia Bulletin, which earnestly supported Governor Hastings in the contest refers to Senator Quay's action as follows: "It is creditable to Mr. Quay that, having demonstrated his ability to control the convention, he made use of his victory gracefully and sagaciously, and in the spirit of concession and peace. His opponents generally met him in the same spirit, and the result was an exhibition of party concord that was remarkable in view of the contentions that had preceded it. Whatever personal antagonism may survive, the conflict will not affect the campaign, and a great majority for the State ticket in November will now be the aim of all the party leaders."

The Lewisburg Nail Mill.

The Harrisburg News says: "I. O. Philips, of this city, was in Lewisburg, Union county, the past few days, arranging for the purchase of the nail mill at that place.

Mr. Philips represents a number of Harrisburg capitalists in the matter, and the deal has been closed for the consideration of $12,000 of which $1,000 has been paid. Forty-one machines will be run, giving employment to about 150 hands. The mill will be overhauled and started in November. The mill represents an outlay of $61,000 and has been idle for several years past.—Ex.

Now, why couldn't some one create a boom in favor of the Bellefonte nail works and get a party, or company to start them? This is a better place than Lewisburg, by far.

Peary Relief Expedition.

St John's N. F., Sept. 2.—The first news from the Peary relief expedition since its departure was received to-day. It came by the American schooner J. E. McKinsie returning from the Greenland halibut fishery.

The McKinsie met the Kite, with the expedition, at Holsternburg on July 15. At Holsternburg the Kite took aboard Professor Deychee, one of the members of the expedition and sailed again the same evening. Very little ice was reported south of the Greenland waters.

The crew of the McKinsie think the Kite will have no difficulty in reaching Whales Sound, where Peary's headquarters are located.

The return of the relief party is expected about the end of this month.

Preparing for the Races.

New York, Sept 2.—The Defender was floated in the dry dock at the Erie basin this morning, and was taken in tow at once and headed for New Rochelle, where she will remain until Thursday, when she will go to the Erie basin again to be docked and measured. A large force of men had been at work on her all night strengthening the stepping of her mast, and it is now believed that all her weak points have been discovered and made strong.

The Valkyrie is now in the horseshoe and will stay there until to-morrow night, when she will go into the dry dock to be cleaned and polished for the races. She will be measured at the same time as the Defender.

Appalling Railroad Accident.

Brooklyn, N. Y. Sept. 2—An appalling railroad accident occurred at 3.40 o'clock this afternoon near the Woodlawn station of the Sea Beach railroad. While train No. 3, drawing seventeen cars, which were crowded almost to suffocation by excursionists, was standing at the Woodlawn station, a "wild cat" engine came thundering along in its wake and crashed into the rear car, telescoping it. The car was full of passengers, most of whom came from New York. Many of the people saw the engine come tearing along and jumped from the train, and thus saved their lives.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS.

The State Central Committee Issues a Rather Remarkable Address.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 29.—The special committee appointed a few days ago by the democratic state central committee to find a way out of the difficulties caused by the declaration of P. W. Harden, nominee for governor, in favor of free coinage of silver, issued a rather remarkable address to-night to the democratic voters of he state and is which as follows:

"In obedience to the resolutions recently adopted by the state central committee the undersigned earnestly appeal to the patriotism, loyalty and devotion of the democratic party in the interest of good government and the prosperity and welfare of the people of Kentucky to give their united and hearty support to the ticket and platform made by the party at the June convention held in this city.

"Whatever opinions you may hold as to economic questions, whether differences there may exist relative thereto, we earnestly and sincerely ask you to lay them on the altar for its safety and success, and unite in one great effort to defeat the republican party and its nominees. Certainly no true democrat desires the election of the republican ticket and the defeat o the democratic ticket.

"The good people of Kentucky surely do not want to try the dangerous experiment of turning over state and local affairs to the republican party, nearly one-half of which is composed of the negro vote. The present peaceful and social conditions of the state demand at your hands the election of the democratic nominees.

"We plead for harmony, charity and forebearance, for broadness of thought and utterance, in a spirit of conciliation, on the part of the press of the state and of every democratic voter throughout the state, and their united action and support of the entire ticket and platform."

He Wasn't Fighting.

When you look at Mr. C. B. Williams do not think that he was fighting, or anything of that kind, as he wasn't. That pretty face that he now sports he got in a nice tumble at Mill Hall on Thursday evening. He and Ed, Harper went down there just for a little trip, and though they did not say so, they evidently must have been looking at the pretty faces of the Mill Hall girls, and looked a little bit too long, so that the train started before they were aware of it. They called to the conductor, and then started to run to catch the train. To do so they had to cross a tressle, and while going over Williams made a misstep and went down between the ties, falling on his face and shoulders right on a stone pile. His face is pretty badly bruised up and he is otherwise badly bruised, but the greatest wonder is that he was not killed outright; and he may thank his stars he got off so lucky.

Small Beginnings

Make great endings sometimes. Ailment that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is the disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts of maladies on a chronic basis. Moreovers there are certain disorders incident to the season, malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you have incurred risk from these influences a wineglassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventives. A wineglassful before meals promotes appetite.

Judge Love's Decree.

Our Huntingdon correspondent has a dispatch in another column in which he notes the filing of an order by Judge Love directing the superintendent of public schools in Huntingdon county to issue a professional certificate to an applicant of whose moral character he had grave doubts. By reference to the dispatch it will be noted that the certificate was refused because of the drinking habits of the applicant. We wish our correspondent had given an outline of the reasons advanced by Judge Love why a certificate must be granted. Surely if the superintendent was correctly informed he was right in refusing to grant a certificate.

The law places upon the county superintendent a great responsibility. He must not only certify to the teacher's attainments but also to his moral character. His action in this respect is a judicial act and must be determined by the evidence, under the law. Now, the man who gets drunk is not a person of good moral character, not a proper person to be placed in daily contact with children. Such an one might be granted a provisional certificate, which is only good for a year in the hope that new responsibilities will lead to sobriety, but a professional or a permanent certificate should be issued to sober men and women only.

We have the highest respect for the courts and everywhere counsel instant and implicit obedience to their mandates, unless they be in violation of the dictates of conscience. But we would not like to believe that any court in the land would actually undertake to force any superintendent to issue a professional certificate to a man who is in the habit of getting drunk. There must be some point in this Huntingdon case which our correspondent has not mentioned and which determined Judge Love's decision. We are clear in the conviction that no certificate should issue to a drunkard, and if we were superintendent would not issue such a document to such a person under any circumstances.

We will not assert that it is a sin to take a drink of liquor, although we do not believe it is wise or expedient. But it is very wrong for any one who is placed over young people to become intoxicated. The teacher who forgets that he is to be an example to his pupils, and who conducts himself in an improper manner should be discharged as soon as his offense becomes public property. This is a case in which leniency is a mistake. A drunken teacher is an anomaly; he will be despised by his scholars, and yet, so prone is human nature to evil, influence is liable to be contagious. Drunkenness is immorality when a teacher is the drunkard.

A county superintendent is answerable to God and his own conscience for the proper discharge of his duty. It is not likely that he will err on the side of a strict morality. The drunkard and the profane person have no right to a place among the goodly company of teachers. The superintendent who guards the portals does well, and we cannot conceive of the possibility of any court in Pennsylvania undertaking to undo his work. Awaiting an exposition of Judge Love's position and the reasons he gave for his decree, we venture to hope that the facts will show that the judge and the Tribune are of the same mind.—Altoona Tribune.

The dispatch referred to was published in Wednesday's DAILY NEWS.

Be True to Quay.

The Democrats, of Bellefonte and indeed of the whole county, have been earnest Quay men for the last two months. They said "Quay is a winner." You fellows can't afford to turn him down. One of the most enthusiastic Quay democrats that we knew, was Jake Runkle, prospective democratic candidate for sheriff. Now we hope these men, Jake with the rest, will stick to their friend Quay and help him to win a glorious victory. We do not see how they can do less, for Quay usually fights a winning battle and they so admire him for these same fighting qualities. Now will they desert their friend in his hour of need, when by their votes and a continuation of their support, they can add so much to the laurals he is about to win; for his election as chairman makes it encumbent upon him to lead the party to victory for the reason that party victory means his personal triumph and all the more prestige for the campaign of 1896, when he means to tighten his grip on the party machinery. We call upon his democratic friends in this county to stand by the record they have made in the last two months, and be true and faithful Quay men to the last.

Rain is Badly Needed.

The weather crop bulletin for the week ending August 26th, says: Drought is now general throughout the State, and has injuriously affected the maturing of all growing crops, causing corn, buckwheat, late potatoes, tobacco, vegetables and fruit to dry up and ripen prematurely. Pasturage is very short, and some are feeding stock. Springs and streams are failing and the ground so dry that plowing is delayed. Many sections report frost on the 22d, which was slightly damaging to corn, tobacco, buckwheat and vine trucks.

If all the nations of Europe adopted the system of Great Britain, the price of gold would be raised beyond measure, and we should see produced in Europe a result lamentable enough.—Leon Faucett, in 1843.

This condition now exists in the country, and when the people demand a restoration of prosperity they are told it is wrong to decrease the purchasing power of gold.

WILL MEET IN ALTOONA.

Patriotic Order Sons of America will Be Here in 1896.

Allentown, Pa., August 28.—The state camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America this morning defeated all amendments to the state camp constitution and adopted the amendments to the subordinate constitution.

The election of officers resulted as follows: State president R. M. Reed; state vice president G. B. Anderson; state master of forms, H. W. Akins; state treasurer, I. S. Smith; state secretary, Wm. Weand; state conductor, H. Trumboro, state inspector, W. Weeks; state guard, J. Berryman.

The Patriotic Order Sons of America this afternoon decided to meet next year at Altoona, and in 1897, the semi-centennial year at Reading.

A. Conger, of Scranton, was elected state lecturer. The state secretary's salary was increased from $1,600 to $1,800.

The first prize in the oratorial contest was won by H. K. Patterson, of Philadelphia; the second by T. C. Knowles, of Pottsville, and the third by H. G. Lucas, of Wilkesbarre. H. M. Smith, of Shamokin, received honorable mention.

An Amusing Mistake.

A clergymen was very anxious to introduce some new hymn books into the church and arranged with his clerk that the latter was to give out the notice immediately after the sermon. The clerk, however, had a notice of his own with reference to the baptism of infants to give out; accordingly at the end of the sermon he arose and announced that "all those who had children whom they wished to have baptized were to send their names at once to the clerk." The clergyman, who was stone deaf, assumed that the clerk was giving out the hymn book notice, and immediately arose and said: "And I should like to say, for the benefit of those who haven't any, that they may be obtained in the vestry any day from three to four o'clock; the ordinary little ones at one shilling each, and special ones with red backs at one shilling and four pence."

Odd Fellows Home.

About fifty representatives of different lodges of Odd Fellows in this State met in Sunbury Tuesday afternoon. The purpose of their visit was to further consider the plan of establishing an orphans' home in central Pennsylvania. The meeting was held in the room of local lodge No 620, and was called to order by S. B. Boyer, Esq., of that place, who made a brief address. The election of officers followed and resulted as follows: President, S. B. Boyer; vice president, I. C. Hine; secretory, G. L. Bowser. The majority of those present favored the project of establishing a home.

Don't be in Haste.

To break off an old tried friendship.

Or contract a new and doubtful alliance.

To give advice without being asked for it.

To Spend your money in advance of earning it.

To make love to more than one woman at a time.

To give up a reputable business to dabble in politics.

To take part in the differences between your neighbors.

To quarrel with your wife because she criticises your faults.

Or with your sweetheart because he doesn't tell you everything he knows.

To accept the scandalous stories you hear concerning other people.

Deliberation is the great preventative of misery.

WHAT use is there in eating when food does you no good—in fact, when it does you more harm than good, for such is the case if it is not digested.

If you have a loathing for food there is no use of forcing it down, for it will not be digested. You must restore the digestive organs to their natural strength and cause the food to be digested when an appetite will come, and with it a relish for food.

The tired, languid feeling will give place to vigor and energy, then you will put flesh on your bones and become strong. The Shaker Digestive Cordial as made by the Mount Lebanon Shakers contains food already digested and is a digester of food as well. Its action is prompt and its effects permanent.

ADMIRAL ITO has declined to accept the decoration of the Order of the Golden Kite and also that of the Grand Cordon of the Rising Sun, which the Emperor of Japan wished to confer upon him. This is a reminder that Mr. Cleveland should get up a number of decorations and bestow them upon Hoke Smith, J. Sterling Morton and Secretary Carlisle. The order of the Golden Possum would do for Hoke, but there should be a grand cordon of something or other for Morton and Carlisle. It would not be a bad idea for Mr. Cleveland to lay in a large stock of decorations. If he should decide to run for a third term they would come in handy. Nothing—except a fat office—would so enthuse and inspire the average cuckoo to put in his best licks for Mr. Cleveland as the receipt of a nice decoration from his hands.

In Canning Time.

The simplest canning apparatus is undoubtedly the best. In these days of many patents, when the market is filled with various elaborate devices for canning purposes, it is pleasant to know that the very best results may be obtained with a simple wooden rack fitted into a flat-bottomed clothes boiler. A good boiler of this kind of heavy tin, large enough to hold a dozen and a half cans, may be purchased for $1.50. Any amateur carpenter may easily make the rack out of pine strips a half inch thick and an inch and a half wide.

The jars are filled with fruit and covered with the syrup made from their juice in the case of soft fruit like berries, and of water in the proportion of five pints of water to seven pounds of sugar in the case of harder fruits, like peaches, pears and plums. The covers are screwed down without the rubber, and the jars set on this rack and separated by kitchen towels. They are immersed up to their necks in warm water, which is allowed to come to the boiling point. In the case of pineapples it boils five minutes, in case of peaches, pears and plums and most other fruits twenty minutes. As soon as the time of the boiling is over, the fruit is removed at once, jar by jar, the cover is taken off, the jar is filled to the brim with fresh boiling syrup to take the place of that which has been absorbed, the rubber is put on and the cover is screwed up as tight as possible. When the jars are cold the covers are tight again, and each jar is wrapped in paper to exclude its contents from the light, and is set away in preserve closet. This closet should be in a place where the uniform temperature is as near to fifty degrees as possible. A dry cellar is usually the best place.

SENATOR Stewart has silver sinews. The great silver advocate is nothing if not consistent. He has stood as the high priest of silver ever since the crime of '73 was perpetrated on the arid and unsuspecting West. And now, when it comes to a question of having an injured knee moulded into usefulness again, he has had himself sewed together with wires of the virgin metal. A short time ago he injured his knee in a cable car accident. The blow tore the large ligament from the bone, and the operation the other day consisted in sewing the tendon down with silver strands. The Senator was as much amused as any one at the idea of getting patched up with silver, and says he is going to use it as another argument in favor of the white metal when he gets out to stump the country. It is possible that the honorable gentleman from Nevada might have stood being sewed together with the higher priced metal—gold. But Col. Dick Bright, who ought to be an authority on the subject, says that he will bet one of Tim Murrey's terrapin suppers that if the doctors had used gold wire they would have had a case of blood poisoning or hydrophobia on their hands inside of twenty-four hours.

Eclipse of the Moon.

The second total eclipse of the moon of the present year will take place Tuesday night, September 3, and will last until after midnight. The former eclipse was total and occurred on the night of March 10 beginning at 8.45 o'clock in the evening and lasting until 12.25 o'clock a. m. Its magnitude was 1,527, the moon's diameter being 1. The total eclipse lasted from 8.51 o'clock to 11.27 o'clock. It was visible in Europe, Africa, and North and South America.

The coming eclipse will be visible all over North and South America and in Western Europe and Africa and on the Atlantic Ocean. Its magnitude will be 1,557. The moon will enter the shadow at 11 o'clock. At 6 minutes after midnight the total eclipse will begin and will continue until 47 minutes past 1 o'clock. The moon will leave the shadow at 2.5 o'clock. Besides the two eclipses mentioned, the year 1895 has had two eclipses of the sun, and will have another on September 18, on the same orb. They were all partial eclipses, and none of them were visible in the United States. The two previous sun eclipses were on March 25 and August 20.

A Father's Advice.

A father, talking to his careless daughter, said: "I want to speak to you of your mother. It may be that you noticed a careworn look upon her face. Of course it was not brought there by any act of yours; still it is your duty to chase it away. I want you to get up tomorrow morning and get breakfast. When your mother comes and begins to express surprise, go right up to her and kiss her on the mouth. You can't imagine how it will brighten her dear face. Besides, you owe her a kiss or two. Away back, when you were a little girl she kissed you when no one else was tempted by your fever tainted breath and swollen face. You were not so attractive then as you are now. Through years of childish sunshine and shadows she was always ready to cure by the magic of a mothers's kiss, the little, dirty, chubby hands, whenever they were injured in those first skirmishes with the rough old world."

DEAR READERS:

We have heard from many of you during the brief period that our advertisement appeared in this space. Any others desiring full reports and statements can secure same by writing to us.

The further opening up of the South Central group of gold mines, and the erection of a Stamp Mill to reduce the company's ore to bullion, is a square, legitimate use of capital.

1. Mr. Barry, formerly of Cripple Creek, the Bonanza gold camp of Colorado, sold his interests there, and bought the Morning Star gold mine, a producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

2. Captain Plummer, formerly of the Granite Mountain mine, is now working the Delamar Mine, a large producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

As the Granite Mountain (Gold and Silver Mining Co.) stock rose from about twelve cents a share to over $50 a share, and paid from 25 cents to 50 cents per share per month in dividends, under the superintendency of Captain Plummer, we consider him a pretty safe guide to follow in mining, and we invite you to participate in the nyestment.

QUAY WON THE FIGHT.

The Junior Senator Had Every thing His Own Way Yesterday.

Harrisburg, Aug. 28.—The most bitter fight that has ever been experienced in the ranks of Pennsylvania republicanism is at an end and Senator Quay is victorious. The Beaver statesman swept everything before him and magnanimously consented in the interest of party harmony, to the nomination of the six republican superior court judges, as the administration forces had desired. The convention, which lasted a scant three hours, no recess being taken, was marvelously harmonious. Judging by the way the Quay and Hastings forces hobnobbed within a half hour after the convention had been called to order, the respective chiefs setting the example by consulting with one another, it was not evident that the party had been rent in twain during the past two months and up to the very day of the convention by factionalism that was unprecedented for its bitterness. The success of Senator Quay is regarded as a masterly political achievement. He has secured control of the party organization in the Keystone state has had himself elected state chairman to succeed an active political opponent, the latter himself placing the senator in nomination, and literally was the power with the convention. The fight between the factions and the unlooked for harmonious ending at the state convention will be given a prominent place in the political history of Pennsylvania. In addition to electing Senator Quay as state chairman, B. J. Haywood, of Mercer county, who was practically unopposed, was nominated for state treasurer, and the six republicans, whom Governor Hastings appointed as superior court judges on June 27 last, were placed on the ticket. The latter nominees are: Ex-Governor James A. Beaver, of Centre county; H. J. Reeder, of Northampton; J. J. Wickham, of Beaver; G. B. Orlady, of Huntingdon; C. E. Rice, of Luzerne, and E. N. Willard of Lackawanna. The seventh member of the judiciary is H. J. McCarthy (democrat), of Philadelphia, the law creating the new court providing for minority representation. The first and the decisive test of the strength of the factions was developed when the vote for temporary chairman was taken, Congressman, John B. Robinson, of Delaware county, the Quay candidate, receiving 163¾ votes against 133½ for Colonel Henry Hall, of Pittsburg, the administration candidate.

The Camera a Reformer.

One woman determined that her husband should know how he looked when he was drunk. She knew how he looked well enough, and needed not that any man should tell her. Her children also knew by sad experience, but the man himself had a very imperfect idea of the state of the case. So once when he came home and fell into a maudlin slumber she sent for a photographer to come forwith, and on his arrival she set before him his work. She ordered the photographer to photograph her husband as he sat in the chair. The photographer did it well: and when the photograph was finished and laid beside the husband's place at breakfast it was a revelation, and the sobered gentleman experienced a decidedly new sensation. There was no need of explanation; the thing explained itself. There was no chance for contradiction: the sun tells no lies. There was no room for argument; a reform has taken place.

Harrison Will Not Be a Candidate.

Indianapolis, Ind., August 29,—In an editorial discussing the effect of Senator Quay's victory upon General Harrison's candidacy the News which is regarded as the ex-president's organ, says to-night: "A man who has been close to General Harrison personally for several years, says the victory of Quay will settle General Harrison's determination not to begin any movement in his behalf; not that he and his friends do not believe they could secure the nomination, but because the general will not allow himself to be drawn into a contest for the nomination. "Both Pennsylvania and New York would be against Harrison," said the man, "and General Harrison will never allow the use of his name in a convention in which New York and Pennsylvania are against him. He would have been glad to have seen Quay beaten as a good thing for the party."

But It's Shaky All the Same.

Washington, Aug. 30.—It is generally recognized here in official circles that the Belmont-Morgan bond syndicate will not permit the treasury gold reserve to fall below the $100,000,000. Four times they have come to the rescue when such a result would have followed constant drains on the reserve for export to Europe.

To-day at the last moment the syndicate deposited $1,000,000 in gold in exchange for legal tender, without which the gold reserve would have dropped below the limit. So far the syndicate has deposited in excess of the gold required for its $62,400,000 in bonds, nearly $10,000 to keep the reserve intact.

A Case of the Long Hairs.

Philanelphia, Aug. 30.—The report that Princeton would probably play foot ball here this fall was well founded as it is now learned that the Tigers will play Lehigh on Oct. 19 on the grounds of the Philadelphia ball club. Although it is rumored that Princeton intends to play two other games of foot ball here this fall it is not known with whom or where they will be played.

Not as They Expected.

For weeks past our democratic friends have been happy over the lively contest going on in the republican party for supremacy by the rival factions of leaders, and have hugged to their bosoms the delusive hope that the bitterness of the contest would lead to two conventions and per se, a democratic victory this fall. In speaking of the convention the Altoona Tribune says:

There was some rubbing of eyes among citizens, especially among democratic citizens, when it was discovered that the belligerent republican leaders had buried the hatchet and were, figuratively, smoking the pipe of peace. Quay whispering in the ear of Hastings, Hastings smiling upon Quay, Quay nominating Hastings for permanent chairman, Quay nominating all the superior court judges appointed by Governor Hastings, Gilkeson declining to be a candidate for re-election as state chairman and nominating Quay, for whom the convention voted en masse!

This was not what the democratic brethren hoped for. For some days past they have been wearing an eager and an expectant look. "These republican," they said, as they nudged each other, "have got into a quarrel as fierce as any ever waged by our warring factions, and they haven't the necessary pliability to settle their differences and unite upon a common platform. Go to! We will nominate six candidates for judge of the superior court and will elect all six. That is the way they talked up until midnight on Tuesday. In the meantime various candidates came out. But Wednesday's action sent a chill down the backbone of the most hopeful democrat. Evidently their anticipations have become dust and ashes.

Some republicans are pretty nearly as much surprised as the democrats. They have not been accustomed to these little magnetic disturbances and while the recent one was raging thought the sun would never shine any more. Any thing disturbing party harmony has been so unusual that they took seriously the little jokes that the rival factions got off at the expense of each other.

The action of the convention, harmonious and unanimous as it was, from the election of Governor Hastings as permanent chairman to the selection of Senator Quay as chairman of the state committee, was an indication that there was more fuss and fury in the pre-convention uproar than substance. It also seems to show that our democratic friends are no longer to have a monopoly of fierce faction quarrels, suddenly ending in dramatic reconciliations and hand-shakings and other pleasant episodes. The success of Wednesday's convention, the intense interest that was excited in it, the great crowds it took to the state capital, are all so many reasons why the experiment should be repeated at an early date. It is a capital way of provoking enthusiasm. On the whole, it was a great day.

A NEW YORKER sued a horse-dealing concern of that city because a hunter sent to it by him to be sold by electric light had been inadvertently put up at auction in broad daylight, with the result that certain defects or superfluities in or upon his legs became easily apparent to purchasers, and he brought only a very small price. The plaintiff got a verdict of two hundred and thirty dollars, a comfortable sum certainly to reclaim upon a horse deal, and yet a sum which many persons who have no horse to sell may regard as a meager compensation for the inconvenience of demonstrating one's self in open court to be a rascal.

'Twas a Dynamite Bomb.

New Brunswick, N. J., August 30.—An attempt was made to kill Sheriff Servers and possibly blow up the Middlesex county jail at noon to-day. The sheriff received a brass cylinder in a jewelry box to-day. On opening the box and finding the tube he had his deputy place it on the ground outside his office. The Rutgers college chemist was summoned and pronounced the thing a dynamite bomb of crude construction but of sufficient force to kill or blow out the walls of the sheriff's office. It is believed that the bomb was sent by friends of David Barry, who is in jail for arson.

Now He Denies it.

Buzzards Bay, Mass., August 30.—Ex-Postmaster General Bissell, who is spending a few days with his family at Marion was seen this afternoon by a representative of the United Press while Mr. Bissell was on his way to Gray Gables to call on the president and Mrs. Cleveland. In referring to the published statements from Buffalo that the president had offered him the vacant position on the supreme court bench, Mr. Bissell said that there was nothing whatever in the report.

The Lehigh Valley in Luck.

New York, August 30.—The stock exchange to-day listed $6,880,000 additional first motgage 5 per cent. gold guaranteed gold bonds of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, making the total amount listed $10,280,000. The bonds were issued to pay for properties and to get working capital to extend the company's business and sale of coal. These are part of the issue recently offered abroad by Brown Shipley & Co., of London.

HUNTING A LOCATION.

A Burned Organ Manufactory Looking for a New Place.

The following letters have been handed to us by Mr. William Shortlidge, President of the Bellefonte Board of Trade:

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Aug. 19, 1895.
M. P. MOLLER, Esq.,
Hagerstown, Md.,

DEAR SIR:—I notice in the newspapers that your property (organ factory) has been burned and that you will probably look for another location. We will be glad to have you come to our town and take a look at our situation, with a view of locating here. We have first-class railroad facilities, competing lines, and one of the most healthy places in the world. Soliciting your attention, I am

Yours respectfully,
WILLIAM SHORTLIDGE,
President Board of Trade.

The answer received was as follows:

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 21, 1895.
WILLIAM SHORTLIDGE,
Bellefonte, Pa.,

DEAR SIR:—Yours at hand. In reply will say: I will go where I can get the best inducements. Kindly advise me by return mail, what offer you can make me, if I guarantee to employ seventy-five men the year round. I will want a suitable building, say 200x36 feet, three story, built of brick. If you have an offer to make, please send itat once.

Yours truly,
M. P. MOLLER.

In answer to the above Mr. Shortlidge wrote the following:

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Aug. 22, 1895.
M. P. MOLLER,
Hagerstown, Md.,

DEAR SIR:—I have your favor of the 21stinst. advising me that you will go where you can get the best inducements, and asking what we have to offer. In the first place, it seems to me that you had better state what you require. Our people do not know anything about the organ business. I take it for granted that you know all about it, and are able to tell me what is required to carry on the business, and how much advantage it will be to our town. It seems to me that our people are not prepared to offer inducements until they learn something of the advantages, as well as the capital required, if you will expect any to be furnished by citizens of our town in order to induce you to locate here. Awaiting an early reply, I am

Yours truly,
WILLIAM SHORTLIDGE.

To this letter was received the following reply:

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 28, 1895.
WILLIAM SHORTLIDGE,
Bellefonte, Pa.,

DEAR SIR:—Yours at hand. Although have some very good offers from other places, I wish to know theamount of cash bonus and ground you will give me in consideration for me to move to your place and build a factory, if I guarantee on my part to give employment to not less than seventy-five men the year round for, say, five years. Please let me have an early reply. Yours truly,
M. P. MOLLER.

The above is self-explanatory so far as it goes, but Mr. Moller should be a little more explicit in stating just what he wants; and, more especially, just what advantages there is to a town in having an organ factory located within its precincts. Will he be able to use any of the products of our place, or will the only advantage be in having a place to give employment to that number of men? And those, most likely will have to be men of experience, who will be brought here from a distance. If Mr. Moller does not want the earth, and will tell just exactly what he does want, or rather need, it might be that the people of Bellefonte will be able to offer him some very substantial inducements.

Rev. H. A. Grant's Benefit.

The entertainment given by the colored home talent, at Garman's opera house Wednesday evening was largely attended by an intelligent and appreciative audience. It was mostly literary in character with a Scarf drill to add to the interest, the proceeds were to be used as a benefit to Rev. H. A. Grant, pastor of the A. M. E. church of this place. The performance was good in every particular, and the audience were loud in their praise of the systematic, classical and telling effect of the whole affair. We have not as yet learned what the total receipts of the entertainment are.

Death of Mr. Wellington.

PLENTY OF VICTIMS.

Democratic Aspirants for Judgeship Who are Willing to Run.

Philadelphia, August 30.—The evening Telegraph to-day says that the democratic state convention to meet on Sept 11 at Williamsport, will nominate six candidates for judges of the new superior court There are, it is said, at least thirty democratic attorneys throughout the state who are anxious to be placed upon the ticket. The democrats in the interior of the state, it seems, do not favor the nomination of H. J. McCarty, of this city, who was appointed by Governor Hastings as the minority judge of the court. The interior democrats, it is said, fear that if he should be given a place on the ticket he would receive such a large republican vote that it would make him the highest man of the six democratic nominees.

National Chairman Harrity was asked to-day what action he thought the convention would take in the matter. He was disinclined to being interviewed, saying that he had so recently returned home that he did not feel that he could talk about any matter having reference to the state convention at this time. Mr. Harrity was equally reticent as to the probable construction of the party platform.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

FOR PROTHONOTARY,

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY,
HENRY C. QUIGLEY,
of Bellefonte.

The $100,000,000 Reserve.

The power of imagination to produce real disease and even death has never been better demonstrated than in a ghastly experiment recorded in medical works.

A condemned criminal was handed over to eminent physicians to be dealt with in accordance with the old Latin injunction to "make every experiment upon a vile body."

When brought before them the criminal was informed that the State had mercifully remitted the penalty imposed upon him of death by torture and that he would be allowed to bleed to death by having a vein opened in his arm. This manner of dying he was assured, would be painless, and therefore preferable to the horrible tortures to which he had been condemned as an expiation of his crime.

The man was seated in a chair. His arms were bared and his eyes were blindfolded. The state of his pulse was taken. His arms were smartly scratched with a sharp lancet, yet not deep enough to draw blood. At the same time an attendant carefully and steadily poured upon his bare arm a stream of water warmed to the exact temperature of human blood, and this water falling from his arm was caught in a bowl held beneath by another attendant.

As the blood warm water splashed into the bowl the state of the man's pulse was taken from time to time, always just after the announcement, "one ounce of blood withdrawn," "two ounces," "six ounces," "twelve ounces." At each statement of the quantity of blood withdrawn the victim's pulse became feebler, his face grew pale and paler. Meantime the doctors discussed with one another the probable quantity of blood contained in the subject's body, and how soon the last drop would be drained and death follow.

Slowly the pulsation of the heart became weaker and weaker, and at last the man died without a drop of blood having actually been drawn from his veins of imagination.

The people of the United States are today in much the same plight as that subject of an interesting physical experiment.

They have been blindfolded, and led to believe that the withdrawal of gold from the United States Treasury to any amount below the imaginary danger point of $100-000 reserve means the injury of all their interests, and that the serious depletion of that imaginary reserve means financial death and destruction of the nation's credit.

They have been told so by the Administration and by the Belmont-Morgan syndicate. When the exigencies of international commerce have required the withdrawal of gold from the Treasury for export, and the reserve has fallen below the $100,000,000 mark, the Stock Exchange has been demoralized, all the people have shivered until the syndicate has kindly exchanged some $8,000,000 of gold for greenbacks at the Treasury.

Yet no one knows better than the members of the syndicate that the greenbacks are as good as gold, that the silver coin of the United States is as good as gold, and that silver bullion, after the United States has re-established the free coinage of silver, will be just as good as gold bullion in the settlement of international balances. If the syndicate did not know that greenbacks were as good as gold it would not give its gold to the Treasury and take greenbacks in exchange for it.

There is a purpose in this deception of the people. It is not to kill the credit of the United States under the pretense of bleeding it, but it is to bleed it under the pretense of saving it.

—We believe if our people had proper conception of the matchless splendor and the charm that awaits anyone going on the Eagles Mere excursion from here on Saturday, over the Central Railroad, and that the fare is less than half the ordinary excursion rate, there would be a general exodus of people. Look at the views in Schreyer & Rees' window, then step into the grocery store and buy a ticket for sale there.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Sept. 2, 1895.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

Perhaps those who pooh-pooh the idea that Mr. Cleveland is seriously working for a renomination for a third term for himself are right, but so far as indications can be trusted they are wrong. The following summary of the situation is made by a democratic Ex-Congressman-Conn, of Indiana: "The administration was never before so much in politice. Democratic dissension in Ketucky, Maryland and Ohio has aroused the turpid partisanship of President Cleveland and instead of breaking out in choleric platitudes he is using the machinery of the administration to bring sweet peace to warring democratic factions, in the interest of his third term. Gorman with his sugar trust record; Brice, the champion of senatorial corporate s, and Blackburn, the free silver idol, have suddenly become endowed with angelic qualities, and, because they are supposed to control the party majority in their respective states, they are being held to the President's heart to be warmed into Cleveland democratic life. To Secretary Carlisle is entrusted the conversation of Kentucky Bourbonism. His voice will soon be mingled in unison with that of Free Silver Joe in behalf of party harmony, whether it comes from a 16 to 1 calamity organ or gold mounted corporation concert grand, just so it is equipped with a Cleveland subbass attachment. If the democratic deed of trust which Senator Brice carries in his inside pocket can also be franked with the Cleveland Cuckoo crest, Ohio will be as safe for a third term as if counted among the heavenly host. But in Maryland the situation is somewhat different. Senator Gorman's pull is only a three finger hold, and it is doubtful if even President Cleveland's magnetic influence will mesmerize enough democrats to elect the ring ticket. To complete the circuit and turn a third term current into the next national convention it will also be necessary to capture New York, Indiana and another important state or two. New York has its democratic troubles, for which Senator Hill holds the panacea, and the next effort of President Cleveland will probably be to secure control of the senator's medicine box. Indiana is considerably wrought up over the silver question and it will be necessary to prosely to Senator Voorhees in order to vote that delegation. This was done once before and perhaps the same charm can be worked again. In any event an extraordinary effort is being made to wheel the democracy into line for Cleveland, a third term and a continuation of the national fishing club at Buzzard's Bay."

The publication of Secretary Lamont's very generous offer to advance $50,000 from his own pocket to be used in paying soldier's salaries, Congress having failed to appropriate enough for that purpose, while it could not be legally accepted, served to draw attention to the difference between Dan Lamont's financial circumstances when he made his debut in Washington as Mr. Cleveland's Private Secretary and at this time. Then he was so poor that Cleveland paid him $1,000 a year in addition to the salary of Private Secretary, in order that he might be able to keep up with his family a respectable social appearance. Now he talks of advancing $50,000 as nonchalently as he would then have asked a friend to take a beer with him. Dan isn't the only one of the crowd who has got rich. Mr. Cleveland has become a multi-millionaire and a number of others then poor, are now wealthy.

Nobody seems able to say just how or when the idea began to take root but it is certainly very prevalent among republicans in Washington, that General Harrison will in the near future let it be thoroughly understood that he does not desire his name to go before the national convention as a candidate for the presidential nomination.

It has come to my knowledge that the democratic managers in Kentucky and Maryland in their desperation are preparing to revive the dodge they have worked so successfully in all the Southern states for many years to arouse race prejudice.

Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, the republican candidate for Governor of Maryland was a guest at its last meeting of the Union Republican Club of this city. He made a speech that made an excellent impression upon those who heard it. No bluster or brag, just a quiet, gentlemanly expression of confidence in his election. He said if the election were to be held this week the state would, he believed, go republicon by more than 15,000 majority.

Just About the Size of It.

A boy who was recently sent to a boarding school has just sent the following letter to his loving mother: "I got here all right and I forgot to write before. It is a very nice place to have fun. A feller and I went out in a boat and the boat tipped over and a man got me out, and I was so full of water that I didn't know nothin' for a good long while. The other boy has to be buried after they find him. His mother came from Lincoln and she cries all the time. A hoss kicked me over and I have got to have some money to pay the doctor for fixing my head. We are going to set an old barn on fire to-night and I should smile if we don't have bully fun. I lost my watch and am very sorry. I shall bring home some mud turtles and I shall bring home a tame woodchuck if I can get 'em in my trunk."

It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

THE insurgent warfare in Cuba drags along with its usual accompaniment of contradictory reports. Additional troops are about to leave Spain for the seat of war and General Salcedo, who recently returned from Havana, is quoted as saying that large reinforcements are absolutely necessary. In connection with the insurrection interest attaches to a letter which Harper's Weekly published from the Spanish Minister at Washington, and which was written to a contributor to the Weekly. The minister declares that the revolution is led principally by outsiders and that of a half dozen prominent rebels but two are genuine Cubans. In the days that tried men's souls in the Colony King George had the satisfaction of knowing that numerous prominent citizens were sympathizers with the Crown. The Cuban revolution naturally depends upon outside assistance, but there is no reason to doubt that the great majority of Cubans secretly desires the freedom of their island from the Spanish yoke.

Leon W. Washburn's Great Allied Shows Big Three Ring Circus, Museum Menagerie and Hippoprome comes to Bellefonte Thursday, September 5, 1895. Manager Washburn while being among the younger school of circus owners is also one of the wealthiest, and in organizing his shows for this season he has spared no money to secure the best for every department. His horses many of them imported, are models of horse-flesh while his trained animals do everything but talk. They will appear at every performance with their original trainer. A royal troupe of Japanese, imported expressly for this vast enterprise, and the only double troupe ever brought to this country, is another feature. The hippodrome department is certainly the largest ever seen with a traveling organization, and the many races, trials of strength and olympic games are soul stirring and worth going miles to see. The menagerie is large and the rarest denizens of the field, forest and jungle, are to be found in this large collection.

THE charges made in Denver, with full particulars, to the effect that certain Union Pacific Railway officials used their power as railroad managers to freeze out owners of coal mines along the road and compel them to sell to a syndicate of which the officials were members may or may not be true, but it is just what the railway did its self ten years or so ago. It refused proper facilities to private operators and thus obtained a monopoly of the business. The interstate commerce law interfered with that outrage. Now it is charged that certain officers of the road have been fixing rates and using the road to enrich themselves. If there is no law to punish such a crime there ought to be one. The State and Federal officials should investigate the matter. But the receivers and the Court which appointed them is particularly concerned.

We Rise to Remark,

That all woman do not paint because they love art.

That some people get on their knees to pray in order to save their soles.

That clergymen may be all right, but they always marry for money.

That the cherrytree Record will again be brought to life by a new firm.

That even the porous plaster may teach a lesson in the art of sticking to a friend.

That a fellow doesn't usually call a girl a peach who has fuzz on her cheeks.

Do We Eat Too Much Meat?

The tendency of modern times seems to be more and more in the direction of animal foods, and away from a strictly vegetable diet. Take the daily patrons of first class hotels, for instance, and not more than one in twenty, if so many, of those who are in good health fails to eat meat of some kind three times a day. The richest lands in every civilized country seems to be more given to producing meat, rather than vegetables and cereals. This tendency is better seen in England and Ireland than anywhere else, where more and more of the best lands are annually devoted to the raising of and fattening of cattle for the shambles. This, too, despite the fact that a piece of ground that will support ten head of cattle will support double that number of human beings.

The meat eating habit as we find it today is largely a cultivated one. This may be seen in the fact that hardly more than one-fourth of the human race are persistent flesh eaters. The rest subsist principally indeed almost wholly, on the direct product of the soil. Nor do they do this at a sacrifice of their physical or intellectual powers, apparently. All the cereals, fruit and vegetables contain Gluten; peas, beans and nuts contain caseine and albumen. These furnish the elements for the development and the renewal of the tissues of the body. A fruit and vegetable diet has always been held healthier than a flesh one, as well as more varied and nutritious. If milk, eggs, butter, cream and cheese be added, as they should be, one of the safest sanitary conditions of life has been assured. We do not mean to intimate by all this that a meat diet is reprehensible. Far from it; but to show that a persistent flesh diet is far from an actual necessity, as some persons suppose. The doctors also tell us that animal foods are not so healthy as vegetable ones. The strength which rations are supposed to impart is also more or less a myth. No men are capable of undergoing greater fatigue than the Russians, Mexican and other nationalities, who live almost exclusively on the cereals and fruits and do a long day's work on very coarse rations. In short, flesh is not an absolute necessity, as some believe, that we should eat several kinds two or three times a day.

THE state liquor league is acting within the bounds of propriety in prosecuting bot tlers accused of selling liquor at retail. The members of the League pay large sums of money for retail licenses and are entitled to protection. Sales at retail by bottles are objectionable not only because they violate the law, but likewise because such illicit sales are apt to attract the patronage of intemperate persons who may find difficulty in obtaining liquor in the regularly licensed saloons. Bottlers who thus violate the law practically maintain "speak-easies" and have only themselves to blame if called to account for their ending.

JOHN P. CONDO, Sheriff.

THE decision of the Utah Supreme Court that women cannot vote at the coming State election and on the adoption of the Constitution is in accord with law and common sense. How the lower court could have reached another conclusion will puzzle the veriest tyro and it will show what ludicrous decisions are sometimes handed down from the bench. The enabling act passed by Congress says that those who now have suffrage privileges in Utah can vote on the adoption of the Constitution. Women have not had such privileges in Utah for years, and yet in the face of these plain facts a Judge was found capable of affirming their right to vote. Fortunately the Supreme court saved the new State from making a blunder at the start and put an end to the alleged scheme of the Democrats to vitiate the vote on the Constitution and give Mr. Cleveland an excuse for withholding his proclamatian admitting the State into the Union if the Republicans carry the election.

New Jersey Grape Juice Sent to Europe.

Mr. Speer, of New Jersey, has a reputation extending over the world as being a reliable producer Oporto Grape Juice and Port Wine. His Oporto Juice and Port Wine are ordered by families in Dresden, London and Paris for their superior medicinal virtues, and blood making quality, owing to the iron contained in the soil in which the vines grow.

One's physical feelings, like the faithful setter, search and point out plainly the fact of disease or health.

If a man is not feeling well and vigorous—if he is losing flesh and vitality, if he is listless, nervous, sleepless, he certainly is not well. The down hill road from health to sickness is smooth and declines rapidly.

At the first intimation of disease, the wise man takes a pure, simple vegetable tonic. It puts his digestion into good active order and that puts the rest of his body in order. The medicine that will do this is a medicine that is good to take in any trouble of the blood, the digestion, or the respiration, no matter how serious it may have become.

The medicine to take is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a remarkable remedy. It cures diseases in a perfectly natural way, without the use of strong drugs. It cures by helping Nature. It has a peculiar tonic effect on the lining membranes of the stomach and bowels. By putting these membranes into healthy condition, stimulating the secretion of the various digestive juices and furnishing to the blood the proper purifying properties, it reaches out over the whole body and drives disease-germs before it into the usual excretory channels. It builds up firm muscular flesh, makes the skin and the eyes bright.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been found wonderfully efficacious in the treatment of skin diseases—eczema, tetter, erysipelas, salt-rheum—from common pimples or blotches to the worst case of scrofula.

Devastating Our Forests.

The tremendous onslaught made upon the forests of the country are having their legitimate effects. Lumber of every kind, says the Philadelphia Star, is now becoming scarcer, and prices are steadily advancing. It could not in the natural course of things be otherwise. The pine forests east of the Rocky Mountain have nearly disappeared beneath the axes and saws of the woodman. Pennsylvania has scarcely a remnant left. The yellow pine woods of the south are rapidly disappearing, so rapidly that official reports of their condition are to the effect that in less than 20 years hence they will be things of the past. The walnut timber of the eastern states has almost entirely disappeared, so that practically the forests of Oregon and Washington are the only large bodies of timber lands left. They too, are being rapidly converted into lumber. Boards, joists, planks, girders, etc., are being shipped in untold quantities to nearly every part of the world. Half a century hence those who come after us will have the same story to tell of the Pacific slope forests as we have to-day of those of the Atlantic.

Died of His Wounds.

Pittsbnrg, September 3.—John M. Koch a German aged 80 years, died to-day from self-inflicted wounds. After hacking himself horribly with an old razor, Koch completed the deed by firing a bullet through his head. Koch was a stone mason, residing alone in Wickham Lane, Allegheny. His wife died eighteen months ago, since which time Koch has given way to despondency. Neighbors heard the shot and forcing an entrance to the house found him in the throes of death.

How to Eat "Roasting Ears."

This is the season of the year for "roasting ears"—corn boiled on the cob—and people whose minds turn to etiquette and hygiene are given a chance to tell what they know about the best way of disposing of the toothsome morsel. Everybody knows how it is best enjoyed—munched right off the cob, having been previously buttered and salted to suit the taste. But this is impracticable to the unfortunate whose front teeth are missing, or who has to depend upon store teeth, unless the store teeth fit extra well. He must take some other plan, and the best is probably that suggested by a New Yorker, who says he has been eating corn that way for twenty-five years, which is certainly long enough to prove any method. He takes the ear of corn and passes a sharp knife along each row of grains, making a slit in the top of each kernel; then, he claims, a gentle pressure by the teeth, or in the absence of teeth, by the gums, will force the pulp out of the grain and leave the hull, the indigestible part, on the cob. It takes some practice, he says, like riding a bicycle or anything else that is worth while doing, but it pays to learn how.

Those people who protested they would never eat green corn except when cut down off the cob have discovered the error of their ways, and now have compromised with their sensibilities by demanding that the cob is held in one hand, instead of two, and the elbows be kept off the table. When corn is cut down off the cob it leaves on the kernels a part of the tough, thin, cup-shaped socket in which they stood on the ear; this is injurious and indigestible, and does not come off with the grains when shelled after full maturity.

Some people claim an ear of green corn intended for cooking should not be taken from the husk, but the covering simply stripped back, the silk removed, and the ear then boiled with the husk in its original place around it. This is said to produce a flavor attainable in no other way.

And with a corn crop pushing hard onto the two-and-a-half-million-bushel mark, you may eat all the corn you want to without danger of cheating the other live stock next winter.

The Horseless Wagon.

The horseless wagon has made its appearance in New York. It is of the type that has been tested in road races in France, and claims are made that it will supersede the horse for purposes of local hauling, as the trolley has for rapid transit from one part of a city to another, and as the bicycle is alleged to do for the purposes of pleasure.

It is evident though that in its present stage of development the sphere of the new vehicle is quite limited. It has the power of surmounting 10 to 15 per cent. grades, we are told, but such grades would probably require an expenditure of power that would be costly in comparison to horse power. It needs smooth roads, and there is a question whether even the ordinary block stone pavements of cities would not be too rough for its mechanism. On our country roads it would evidently be unserviceable.

If our roads were brought to the degree of improvement that is attained in France there is no doubt that motors of this sort could be used to a degree that would be practically revolutionary. On such roads a power wagon could not only carry its own load, but could haul other loaded wagons to distant markets or to competitive shipping points. Such a method of transportation would relieve farmers of the burdensome local freight charges, which are always the heaviest item in moving agricultural freight to market.

The vital factor, therefore, in the future both of agriculture and the adoption of this new method of local transportation, is in the roads. If the country sets about building smooth and solid highways, great benefits may be secured in this, as in other vital respects.

THE September Home and Country, New York, is a veritable picture gallery. Among other illustrations are individual portraits of thirty-eight beautiful women which are taken from paintings in the Royal Gallery at Munich. They comprise the "Favorites of the King," and it is said that Ludwig I., King of Bavaria, left no greater monument than this famous gallery—the counterpart of which can nowhere on the earth be found. Certainly he was an excellent judge of feminine beauty. You will say so when you have consulted Home and Country, for September. Published by Jos. W. Kay, 149-153 Leonard Street, New York. Subscription, $1.00 a year.

Hip Disease

Results from a scrofulous and impure condition of the blood, and it is cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla the great blood purifier. The father of a Philadelphia girl writes this:

"We gave Hood's Sarsaparilla to our little girl, who had symptoms of hip disease. She could not put her foot down on the floor when we commenced giving her the medicine, but in a short time she was able to get off the couch and to reach her playthings. Since then she has steadily improved, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and her general health is all that could be desired. When any of the other children are not well we give them and we earnestly recommend it to others."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

E. BERRY, 203 Richmond St., Philadelphia.

Hood's Pills easy to buy, easy to take easy in effect. 25 cents.

Pearls of Thought.

Public sentiment is a buzz saw for rascality.

Doing religion and howling religion are mighty far apart.

There never was a statue so lifelike that it had corns.

It is a penalty of fame that a man must ever keep rising.

Good husbands are seldom troubled with bad mothers-in-law.

No man ever accuses a pretty woman of talking too much.

Foster the beautiful, and every hour thou callest new flowers to birth.

The man who lends a hand too often frequently finds himself without a leg to stand on.

Cunning leads to knavery. It is but a step from one to the other, and that ver slippery.

You always make more enemies than money talking politics on the street corners.

He who has not a good memory should never take upon himself the trade of lying.

To soak your bread in the gravy is in awful bad form, but sometimes in excellent taste.

Friendship is the shadow of the evening, which strengthens with the setting sun of life.

Providence has nothing good on high in store for him who does not resolutely aim at something high or good, A purpose is the eternal condition of success.

If you have great talents, industry will improve them: if moderate abilities, industry will supply their deficiencies. Nothing is denied to well directed labor; nothing is ever to be attained without it.

Boiled Peas Excellent.

An ancient story, tells of two unfortunates who were condemned to make a long pilgrimage with peas in their shoes. The feet of one of them, at the end of the journey were terribly sore and swollen. His companion's were not hurt in the least. Being asked the reason he replied, "I boiled my peas." Wise man. Why should men and women and children make the pilgrimage of life with pains and aches troubling them, not only in their feet, but all over, when a simply remedy will effect a cure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is potent to cure dyspepsia, "liver complaint," skin disease and kindred troubles arising from the same source.

The Coming Fair at Brook Park.

The forty-second annual fair of the Union County Agricultural Society will be held at Brook Park, Lewisburg, on Sept. 24, 25, 26, and 27. Excursion rates on all railroads. It is one of the oldest organizations of the kind in the country, and with increased age its exhibitions become better. This fact will be demonstrated this year more than ever before, as the management is composed of enterprising gentlemen, who have formulated a list of premiums that will prove very attractive to owners of fast horses, live stock raisers, farmers and farmers' organizations, manufactures and others. Full particulars are given in pamphlets issued by the society, which can be had on application or by addressing G. E. Long, Secretary, Lewisburg, Pa. The public is assured that this year's exhibition will prove pre eminently attractive.

Seeing is Believing.

If you do not already believe that the excursion to Eagles Mere, Saturday, Labor Day, Sept. 7th, will be through a most picturesque region to the lovliest lake in Pennsylvania, call at Schreyer & Rees and look at the splendid views in their grocery window and be convinced. The special train over the Central Railroad will leave Bellefonte at 6.00 o'clock in the morning and return at 11.00 o'clock same evening. Fare to Mill Hall and return only 60 cents. From Mill Hall to Eagles Mere and return $2.00. Tickets on sale at Schreyer & Rees

Sunday School State Convention.

The Sunday school state convention will meet in Williamsport, October 8, 9 and 10. At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Clinton county association it was decided to ask each Sunday school in this county to send a delegate, and also that each school donate to the state association one cent for each member of the school. S. M. McCormick, secretary, will send blanks to each of the superintendents or secretaries of the schools for information as to the school, all of which blanks it is earnestly hoped will be filled out. The blanks, with the names of the delegates and the contributions, it is desired are to be returned to Mr. McCormick not later than September 19. Entertainment in Williamsport will be furnished free to all delegates, and it is hoped that Centre county will send a large representation.

For Starving Minds.

It is a deplorable fact that there are in this broad land of freedom countless human beings leading lives but little better than those led by the shackled subjects of oppressive monarchies, and all through the lack of means to store the mind with useful knowledge. No books, no papers, no intercourse with those who are able to obtain them; what a cheerless and uninviting prospect to contemplate! Veritable slaves are these, who drag out a miserable existence, and when their toils is over they lie down with a sigh of relief that the end has come, and they are on the road to a place where, in the words of their kind, "they do nothing for ever and ever." There is a band of noble women who are doing much to bring light into the dark places and food to the starving minds, as will be seen by the following from Harper's Bazar:

"Very narrow lives are necessarily led by many women whose lines are cast in quiet places remote from towns, and little influence by the rapid march of the world. Their days are filled with domestic cares, and the fetters of routine wear deep scars in their minds, just as the pressure of constant work writes early wrinkles on their brows. There are portions of our country where a certain Orientalism prevails in effect, if not in theory, in the customs of the household. Grave-faced and unsmiling women of middle age, with leathery skins, angular figures, and appealing eyes, come to their doors to survey the passing stranger, to find the chickens, or to call to shelter their broods of barelegged children. These women prepare the meals for their husbands and sons, and wait to partake of their own portions until the stronger sex has been served. It occasions no surprise when she demands and receives attentions which in less primitive social conditions it is his place to give his wife to accept. Her brief heyday of sunshine was ended when her courtship was over; whatever reign she had was the reign of girlish beauty, caprice and coquetry. Her physical charms fade early, and her intellect has no food to stimulate its development, so that the narrow life stamps her as old while her sister women, in a favorable environment, is still attractive, and still adding to her stores of knowledge and to her mental capacity. Few new books find their way to such buried hamlets as those who have discovered in mountain regions far back from the railroad, not alone in the south, but as well in New York and Pennsylvania. To buy a book would be an unheard of and reckless extravagance, the one recognized use of literature being to adorn the sitting room table. Hence the binding and color of a volume would commend it, beyond the intrinsic worth of its contents, to any possessor into whose hands it might fall. What brightness, what breezy companionship, what touch with the great busy throbbing world of men and events these narrow lives might know if in some way they could be brought nearer the rest of us! Looking at the piles of papers, illustrated and otherwise, which accumulate in our homes, we sometimes wish that no single one of these were ever suffered to be wasted or burned. On desolate mountain peaks there are signal service watchers to whom they would be a boon; in the dugouts and cabins of the home missionary they would be welcome; in many a mountain farmstead they would be, once admitted cheer and comfort and warmth and sustenance. Narrow lives are passed by thousands who are eager for breadth, for improvement, and for elevation, but we do not know what steps to take toward freedom. Not only a duty but a privilege beckons those who in any small and unobtrusive way assist such cliamants on our loving help. The King's Daughters do much, and whether do not we belong to a Ten, each of us, in our way may herein play the part of a king's daughter.

Place Your Name on Your Gate.

If every farmer, business man and other citizen would place his name on the gate at the entrance of his place, after the manner of numbering houses in the cities or the putting of name plates on doors, it would be a great innovation, as from the convenience that it would afford. It is often annoying in hunting for a person in the country to pass unknowingly his place of residence because living in ignorance of the location of his home. Who will be the first to start such a movement?

Money In Stamps.

Says the Philadelphia Record: Probably the most valuable collection of postage stamps in the world is owned by James W. Paul, Jr., a member of the great banking firm of Drexel & Co., of this city. Previous to sailing for Europe last week Mr. Paul had his collection insured for $30,000. It is known to Philetillists all over the globe as "the great Paul collection," and contains thousands of stamps, some from every country in the world. The American group is remarkable for its completeness. Many of them have an immediate market worth from $200 to $500 each. His buff-colored Brattleboro five cent stamp, issued in 1846, is valued at $500, and he has ten other stamps, issued in the same year, bearing the head of James Buchanan that command from $250 to $350 each. For one stamp in the collection Mr. Paul has refused $1500.

Convention of Centre County Christian Endeavorers.

The county convention of the Christian Endeavor Society was held in Philipsburg on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 27th and 28th, and the Journal of that place contained the following of interest:

"To the address of welcome by Rev. Henderson President Laurie replied, thanking the society for their kindness and good wishes, followed by a duet ably rendered. The district secretary called the roll, which showed a membership of 1024, 698 active and 326 associated with junior societies, a gain of 153 active and 39 associate for the year, and the meeting closed by benediction, after which the reception committee threw open the middle room and disclosed a veritable paradise: flowers, easy chairs, tables loaded with good things, to which the delegates were helped to by our pretty girls.

At a meeting of the executive committee they elected the following officers: President, J, Malcolm Laurie, Bellefonte; vice president, Mr. Lichtenthaler, Philipsburg; recording secretary, H. C. Reiling, Philipsburg; treasurer, Miss Levy, Milesburg; corresponding secretary, Miss Stroop, Milesburg. It was decided to hold the next convention at Milesburg.

At 2 in the Presbyterian church Mr. Lichtenthaler led praise cervice followed by a short season of sentence prayer. Hugh Beaver was then introduced, his subject being personal work among the young men. For one so young Mr. Beaver shows the making of a powerful speaker, and has an enthusiasm born of the knowledge that he is working for an infinite God.

Evening service in Lutheran church: After singing Hugh Beaver followed on Young Men's Christian association work. His whole heart is wrapped up in this work. A glorious consecration meeting was led by President Laurie, and all hearts present must have been touched and softened by that half hour with God and his people. After singing Blest be the Tie that Binds our hearts in Mutual Love, the convention adjourned to meet at Milesburg in 1896.

Minding One's Own Business.

If there is one thing more than another that a great many persons seem really to enjoy it is minding other people's business and attempting to manage their affairs for them, and take it all in all, there is no occupation that can be followed than pays less interest on the investment. Nobody ever yet got rich in minding other people's business, but a great many have attained wealth and honors by looking out for their own to the neglect of all other occupations. This tendency to look after other people is born largely of conceit, an inordinate opinion of one's own ability, and is more highly developed in people who are notoriously weak in judgment than any other class of individuals. The really wise, clear headed, far seeing friend usually has quite enough personal matters to see to without desiring to monopolize the cares and burdens of others.

It is a certain fact that the very people of whom we would gladly ask advice are very chary of giving it, while those whose counsel is not worth a rap thrust their opinion and assistance upon us from all quarters.

As a comprehensive proposition, it may be said that those who have themselves made a success in any line are safe advisers, but those people rarely meddle, and still more rarely are they willing to assume charge of any affairs that they can avoid. But these interested persons, these people who attach themselves to others and cling like barnacles, who have never accomplished anything themselves, and never will while time lasts, these are they who are never satisfied with the way we have managed our concerns. But they are ever ready with hand and tongue to help us out with their usually worthless advice. One of the wisest men of the generation past brought his children up with the thoroughly ingrained idea that nothing was so valuable to the individual as the habit of minding one's own business. So deeply fixed was this part of their instruction that more than once, when some trifling disturbance occurred on the street or in the neighborhood, these people put themselves as far as possible out of the reach of it with all convenient dispatch. This man's theory was that if one stayed around where there was trouble it was impossible to avoid getting into it, and that the safest and best way to do was to get as far away as they could. It is needless to say that, acting upon such a principle, the family was comfortable, prosperous, thoroughly respected and rarely got into difficulties of any sort. He taught the family that of all paying occupations the most profitable was studiously and industriously to mind one's own business and let that of other people entirely alone.—New York Ledger.

WHO WILL WIN?

Will Anarchy or Common Sense Beat Out in Chicago?

Chicago, August 29.—Upon the arrival in Chicago of Kein Hardie, the English labor leader, it is said, an attempt will be made to unfurl the red flag. The socialists have the flag ready to use, they say, at the big open air demonstration on Sunday, at which Hardie and John S. Winton are to be present as guests and speakers.

The Sunday demonstration is projected by the socialistic labor party for the purpose of opening the fall campaign for the election of the drainage board. Police Inspector Fitzpatrick, in speaking of the matter, says: "The socialists will not be allowed to unfurl any purely red flag on the streets, and I doubt if they will be allowed to unfurl it at the groves."

The socialists have not applied for a permit to march, and without such authority from the city they could not march at all. If they apply for a permit the red flag business will be settled then and there. The exact attitude of the police, however, will have to be governed by the instructions of the mayor and the chief of police.

The red flag which was to grace the procession to be made on Labor Day in honor of Kier Hardie, the English socialist, will not appear, as Mayor Swift to-day issued positive orders against it being carried through the streets. The mayor ordered Oscar Neebe, Michael Schwab and other socialistic leaders brought to the city hall and warned them against any attempt at display of the socialistic emblem.

Eggs in Two Baskets.

Mark Twain is bankrupt. He is a great humorist, and his writings are in as good demand as ever. The magazines are ready to buy at high prices, all he writes, and his books sell well after his stories have been published serially. As a financier he is not a success. He went into the publishing business with a partner or two, in order to secure all the profits of his books, instead of confiding their sale to firms already established, and accepting a royalty without risk, and he lost all his money. His firm also published Gen. Grant's memoirs, which had such an immense sale that Mrs. Grant realized over $250,000 royalties. Of course, the publishers' profit in this transaction must have been a very large one, but it all went in subsequent ventures, as well as $70,000 which Mark Twain's wife advanced to the firm.

In view of the financial misfortunes which have overtaken Mr. Clemens, his views on business as expressed in "Pudd'nhead Wilson," are interesting. He said there that the advice not to put all one's eggs in one basket was not good. "Put all your eggs in one basket and then watch that basket!" Mark deviated from this rule himself. He had two baskets—the literary business and the publishing business. He could not watch both.

Will Celebrate in Lewistown.

The Juniata Valley association, Knights of the Golden Eagle, composed of Blair, Clearfield, Centre, Huntingdon and Mifflin counties, will hold its annual meeting at Lewistown, on Friday, September 6. This meeting will be one of unusual interest to the members of the order and it is expected there will be an unusually large turnout of sir knights. As this meeting comes on the same date as that set for the big day of the celebration of the borough of Lewistown's centennial, excursion tickets will be sold at all stations without orders, at one fare for the round trip. This affords all an opportunity to attend the meeting of the association and at the same time take in the borough centennial, both of which promise to be grand affairs.

Appeal to Republican Clubs.

Chicago, August 29.—On behalf of the National Republican League, President F. A. McAlpine and Secretary M. J. Dowling today sent greetings to all state leagues, league clubs and republicans generally throughout the United States. In view of the probable shortening of the next presidential campaign by the regular national committee, attention is called to the importance of republican league club work and all are urged to at once begin the work of organization.

Even Boys Find Proof.

Indianapolis, Ind., August 29.—Boys digging under the Holmes house in an unfinished portion of the cellar, have found the two feet of Howard Pitezel. They had been burned but not destroyed, and were evidently too bulky to be put into the chimney hole. With the feet was found buried a five quart can. There was some coal oil in it. All of the witnesses were before the coroner and grand jury to-day. The grand jury will return an indictment against Holmes.

Stopped the Ball.

Newport R. I., 29.—Mr. O. H. P. Belmont's condition is such as to cause considerable anxiety in his family. All preparations for the grand ball he was to give to-night had been progressing rapidly until this noon, when his brother gave orders for postponement. This was not known to Mr. Belmont until later, for he persistently contended that only his death should stop it. Monday evening is now the time set.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show.

This world renowned aggregation of Indians, Cowboys, Buffaloes and the like will appear in Williamsport on Thursday, September 12th, on account of which the Central R. R. of Pa., will sell round trip tickets at one way fare for the round trip, good going on 7.40 a. m. train and returning on afternoon train immediately after the performance. This is one of the greatest shows on earth and the low rate and convenient train service should attract a large number from this region.

Doings in Court.

Since our last report the following cases have been tried and disposed of by the court of Quarter Sessions:

Commonwealth vs. John Guiser and John Gentzel, overseers of the poor of Walker township. The case was one in which the defendants were charged with neglect of duty in failing to properly provide for the family of the defendant, who is not capable of doing any work. The verdict of the jury was guilty.

Commonwealth vs. John Vallance, for false pretense. Verdict, not guilty.

Commonweath vs. Joseph Iddings, assault and battery. After a fair hearing of the evidence produced by the Commonwealth, the defense entered a plea of guilty.

Commonwealth vs. Charles Hartsock and others, charged with larceny by Miss Ohnmacht, the verdict was not guilty.

The next case was that of George Goodman, charged with an assault on the person of Minnie Calderwood, a twelve-year-old girl of Fairbrook, with intent to commit rape. The particulars of this case were given in full in this paper at the time of their occurrence, and the evidence produced by the Commonwealth showed the defendant to be guilty as charged. After the commonwealth's evidence was all in the defendant entered a plea of guilty. Not yet sentenced.

Commonwealth vs. J. Wesley Decker, assault and battery. Found guilty as ind

Then came the case of the Commonwealth vs. Clarence Davis, charged with carrying concealed deadly weapons and firing a revolver at W. and C. Gunsallus. After a very short trial the case was given to the jury who soon returned a verdict of guilty.

Then was taken up the case of the Commonwealth vs. Boyd Stonerode, for forgery. The evidence in this case was pretty conclusive as produced by the commonwealth, but at this writing the case has not yet gone to the jury.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

When the Grand Jury had completed its work they submitted two reports—a majority and a minority one. They all concurred in the majority report in every detail where it related to the miscellaneous inspections, commendations and recommendations, until it came to recommending as follows:

"We see the necessity of more room for jurors; also for witnesses attendant upon the court other than the main body of the court room, and we therefore recommend that such necessary repairs and additions be made to court house as will better accomodate and facilitate the transaction of the business of the court.

To the above the minority objected and handed in the following report: "That we do not concur in the majority report for repairs and addition to the court house for the following reasons: 1st, the county treasury is not in condition to warrant such unlimited expenditure; and 2nd, the taxpayers of the county are already overburdened with taxes and it would be inconsistent with sound business principles to place upon them additional burdens at the present time." Signed by J. F. Weaver, J. P. Grove, Henry Emerick, A. V. Daugherty, H. J. Pletcher.

Thieves at Centre Hall.

Thursday night a gang of thieves got in their work at Centre Hall in great shape. First they tackled the residence of Mr. Snyder, the toll gate keeper, from which they took that gentleman's new suit of clothes. From there they went to the residence of Mr. Fred Kurtz, the proprietor of the Centre Hall Reporter, took his pantaloons, in the pocket of which was a pocketbook containing $25.00, a number of notes and some other valuable papers. After they got through at the residence of Mr. Kurtz they went to the home of Mrs. Barefoot and forced an entrance but from there they did not succeed in taking anything. This ended their night's work. So far as can be learned no one saw the man or men who did the work so that it is impossible to tell who the party or parties may have been.

Mr. Snyder is to be pitied for the loss of his suit, but as to Mr. Kurtz; well, we don't know whether to pity him or not. We cannot see that an editor has any business keeping so much money and other valuable stuff in his pockets. And moreover, we do not know how he come to have it. Centre Hall must be a far better place for printers than Bellefonte is, for we are very sure that you would not catch a Bellefonte printer running around with much more than 25 cents in his pockets, if he could scare that much up at one time. Hereafter Mr. Kurtz will know better than to make a bank out of his pockets.

It was also reported that burglars had been at work down at Curtins but inquiry by telephone revealed the fact that this was a mistake.

Use it in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears, and throat, and is in fact the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucous, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

THIS LOOKS REAL KIND.

But West Point Graduates the Only Ones Particularly Helped.

Washington, August 30.—The interest Secretary Lamont takes in the army was clearly shown yesterday when he offered to advance $50,000 from his private purse to Paymaster General Stanton to pay the officers and men of the army who did not receive their June salaries owing to a deficiency in the appropriation for the pay of the army for the financial year ending June 30, last. Here the matter ended for the time being, and what further steps the secretary will take or has taken will remain to be disclosed.

Even if the secretary should advance the money there is a question as to whether the accounting officers of the treasury would approve the vouchers. It is feared they will hold that congress made a certain allowance for the pay of the army for the year in question and that the secretary and the paymaster general have no authority to increase this allowance. It is certain that neither of these officials has authority to borrow money. In case the secretary should make the advance from his private resources, he would have to depend upon congress to make the loan good by a deficiency appropriation.

Senator Harris, of Tennessee, who was present during the conference, remarked that if the secretary would make the advance he would guarantee the passage of a deficiency bill by next January, reimbursing him.

The enlisted men do not feel the loss of the month's pay in question as much as the officers do. In the case of the men they are clothed, fed and furnished quarters, while the majority of the officers have homes of their own and families to care for.

Can Have What He Wants.

Philadelphia, August 30.—A special to the Evening Telegraph from Harrisburg says that it is stated there on what is considered good authority that Senator Quay had more at stake in his fight this week than the state chairmanship, the control of the Pennsylvania delegation to the next republican national convention and the national chairmanship. He has his eye, it is said, on the governor's chair and will be a candidate for that place in 1898. His term as senator does not expire until 1899, but he could resign from the senate a couple of months before his term expires, and could, as governor, name his successor. On Wednesday evening after the convention adjourned a close friend put the question to Mr. Quay thus: "Does not this mean the governorship for you?"

The senator's only reply was a smile, indicating that the friend had made a good guess.

A month ago one of Mr. Quay's strongest friends said that if the senator should win the state chairmanship fight, it would mean that he will be a candidate for governor.

Getting the Old Man a Job.

A good story is told of Mr. Ward, of the firm of Ward & Stucker, Harrisburg, the lowest bidders for the Jefferson street sewer. A man applied for a job and he was placed in a ditch. The man did good work, and that evening asked Mr. Ward for a job for his brother. The next day both did good work and that night the first applicant asked for a job for his father, saying the old man could do as much work as the two sons together. Mr. Ward's answer was prompt: "Alright, send the old man around and you boys stay at home."

Walked 1,700 Miles.

Renovo Record: George Lewis, of St. Louis, Mo., arrived in town Tuesday, having completed a tour through the western states and Canada, amounting to 1,700 miles. He made the trip on foot in three months and seventeen days, winning $500. He was to have four months to walk the distance. Mr. Lewis is a nephew of John Gartsee, of Leidy township. He left for that place Wednesday to spend a few weeks.

HOW AN ADVERTISEMENT SAVED A WOMAN'S LIFE.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

"One day, while looking over the paper, I saw the advertisement of your Vegetable Compound. I thought I would try it. I did so, and found relief. I was in bed when I first began to take the Compound. After taking four bottles, I was able to be up and walk around, and now I am doing my housework. LUTHERAN REUNION.

A Large Gathering at Hecla Park on Thursday.

The first annual reunion of the Lutherans of Centre, Clinton, Lycoming and Union counties was held at Hecla park Thursday. Notwithstanding that many were kept at home by the threatening rain in the morning, yet about 1,200 people gathered at the park. As the object of the meeting was to effect a permanent organization of Lutherans, a meeting was called to order at 1.30 p. m. by Rev. C. B. Gruver, of this city, and a committee was appointed to consider the advisability of a permanent organization and to nominate officers, the object being social and intellectual. The meeting was opened with music by the Bellefonte orchestra and an anthem by the Pleasant Gap choir; prayer was offered by Rev. C. T. Aikens, of Pine Grove after which Rev. J. F. Hartman, of Altoona, delivered an address on "Young People's Societies in the Lutheran Church." The audience was then favored by another selection by the Bellefonte orchestra, after which Rev. W. E. Fisher, of Shamokin, delivered an address on the "Lutheran Reformation." The Lock Haven Lutheran choir rendered an anthem which was well received, after which short addresses were delivered by Rev. William Spangler, of Salona, Rev. R. G. Bannen, of Burlingame, Rev. L. Rosenburg, of Cogan Station and Rev. J. A. Bright of Kansas.

The committee on organization then reported, recommending that a permanent organization of the Lutherans of Centre Clinton, Union and Lycoming counties be effected for the purpose of holding annual reunions. The following officers were nominated and elected: President, Rev. E. E. Hoshour, of Bellefonte; vice president, J. H. Miller, of Lock Haven; secretary, W. P. Kuhn, of Pleasant Gap; treasurer, John E. Heckman, of Clintondale. After the audience sang "I Love Thy Zion Lord," they were dismissed with the benediction by Rev. J. M. Rearick, of Centre Hall. Fourteen Lutheran ministers were present at the reunion.

The Rate Not Yet Granted.

On Friday we published a piece that was taken from the Centre Hall paper in which it was stated that the telephone company had granted the demands of the valley subscribers and had given them an equal rate with Bellefonte. Superintendent Malin informed us on the same evening that such was not the case. That if they could get a certain number of additional subscribers at Centre Hall and State College—eight at the former place and seven at the latter place, then they would grant the same rate. This, of course, would bring those lines within the required limit. Mr. Malin was at those places Saturday to see what can be done in the matter.

EDWARD T. TUTEN.

Local Department.

—The farmers are now in the midst of their fall seed time, and ere long the corn will be ready to cut.

—A new board walk has been put down around the Episcopal parsonage on Lamb street, and other improvements are being made.

—Saturday of this week will be the Veteran Club's picnic at Hunter's Park. Excursion rates will be given on all railroads, and special trains will be run.

—Mr. John D. Sourbeck got in a whole load of watermelons on Thursday evening, and now the colored ball team is seriously considering having another game of ball in the near future.

—Mr. and Mrs Edward Eckenroth are rejoicing over the arrival of a bouncing big baby boy at their home. The new heir made its arrival early on Thursday morning. Congratulations.

—The season for the following game opened Sunday. Squirrels, ducks, plover, rail and reed birds. There is a penalty of $5 to $50 for infringing the law for killing any insectiverous or song bird.

—Only one band, the Coleville, made its appearance at the tournament at Hecla Park on Wednesday. This was probably due mostly to the appearance of an inclement day in the morning.

—The "Hornet" gives it as its opinion that A. A. Dale is trying to succeed D. F. Fortney in this place. Whenever there is to be a change, we would just as soon see Al. get it as anybody else we know of, beside ourself.

—Judging from the sample of letters received by the "Magnet," that paper must have a very fastidious list of subscribers. But we would advise the "Magnet" editor not to publish too many of those letters, as they are not proper reading for the entire household.

—George R. Meek walks as if he had had his leg pulled while he was down at Cape May, but he hadn't though. He has just got a sample of Job's affliction, and he now is a great admirer of that gentleman's qualities of patience. George says it will soon be done to a turn.

—The editor of a newspaper that has adopted phonetic spelling in a measure, received a postal card from an old subscriber in the country which read as follows: "I hev tuk your paper for leven years, but if you kant spel enny better than you hev been doin for the las to months you may jest stooppit."

—The Odd Fellows of Eagleville and Howard held a picnic in the grove near the Eagleville station on last Saturday. The Milesburg band went down to furnish the music for the occasion. A large crowd was in attendance, but owing to the rain which fell in the forenoon, the picnic was not as much of a success as it might otherwise have been.

—Among the Bellefonte young ladies, graduates of the High School, who have secured schools away from home and will teach this winter, can be mentioned Miss Fannie Elmore, who will this winter teach the intermediate school at Snow Shoe. During her stay there she will make her home in the family of Dr. Stewart, and we predict for her a successful term.

—Talking good times no doubt aids in making them good. But in addition to this if all who have means to invest would only show their faith in the present and future by lending a hand in starting new enterprises and strengthening and encouraging old ones, this mode of aiding the common prosperity would be most effectual.

—At a recent meeting of the Bower club of Democrats of Bellefonte J. C. Meyer and Hammon Sechler, were elected delegates to the State Convention of clubs to be held in the near future in Lancaster, and they were instructed to use all honorable means possible to secure the next convention of clubs for Bellefonte. Should they be successful in this it will be a big thing for Bellefonte next year.

—Did you see the eclipse on Tuesday night? The writer saw a small part of it. That is, we watched it until the moon got too heavy for our eyes and then we concluded it as certain that it would take place, and so went to bed. At that time—11.45 o'clock—the moon was about one-third covered, and there is no reason to believe that it did not become total. For further information we would refer all readers to C. B. Williams, whom we noticed was very interestedly watching for it and, we presume, intended to see it through, judging from appearances.

—One reason why people never pay any particular attention to signs and advertisements daubed on old fences, stables and bridges is because they do not know whether they are reading the advertisement of some firm that is still in business or one that has been dead for years. What ought to be the obituaries of many a has-been firm that tried to do a sign-board business, are painted all over the bridges and old stables of this country. When people read advertisements in a newspaper that is up-to-date they know the advertiser is alive and doing business.

Lewistown's Centennial.

The centennial celebration to be held at Lewistown next week will be an occasion of great interest to the people of that town and Mifflin county. The celebration opens on Wednesday, September 4th, and will close on Saturday the 7th. During the progress of the celebration the Juniata Valley Veteran association, recently organized, will encamp at Lewistown, and a good time is promised those who take advantage of this opportunity to get together and fight their battles over again under circumstances that are more pleasant than when the leaden or iron missiles cut the air in making a bee line for the head or body of some unfortunate servant of Uncle Sam.

Methodist Festival.

This evening the Methodist ladies will hold a festival at the residence of Prof. Harrison, on East Bishop street. They will have as refreshments ice cream, cake, coffee and sandwiches. Everybody is invited to attend, and all are assured of a good time if they will go; as the Methodist ladies are renowned for getting up good festivals at all times.

—Halfmoon township had a case in court this week, the first in many years.

—The public schools were very largely attended on Monday—opening day.

—Monday, the national labor day, was celebrated in some cities with a vengeance; especially was this the case in Philadelphia.

—It is likely that Ollie Campbell will depart in the near future for Clearfield to take charge of the telephone exchange in that place.

—It is stated that Roy Bosner is soon to open up a news stand in John McGinley's cigar store. This will be a good location and Roy ought to succeed very well.

—On Friday evening the Bellefonte band will go to Snow Shoe and furnish the music for a festiyal which will be held in that place on the evenings of the 5th, 6th and 7th.

—Mr. John Alexander, aged 80 years, died on Monday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. W. C. VanValin, in Unionville. The funeral took place at ten o'clock yesterday morning.

—At Milton late last night while the Washburn show was tearing up preparatory to going to Lock Haven, the large centre pole fell on a canvassman and injured him so badly that he died in about a half hour.

—So far as we are informed up to this writing John Knicely was about the most successful squirrel hunter on Monday, he succeeding in bringing down six of the little fleet-footed animals. Some one said that John had only roasting ears, but this was a mistake; John had the genuine articles.

—Who, if they had a chance, could make nicer weather than we are having now? The days are the most delightful that we have experienced in this locality in a long time, while the nights are delightfully cool and pleasant, just the kind for good sleeping.

—Mr. A. Wilson Norris, so well and favorably known in this place, is being mentioned as an available candidate for the next President of the State League of Republican Clubs, although it is all against Mr. Norris' wishes, he maintaining that he is no candidate and that he will vote for and support Maj. Everett Warren, who is a candidate,

—The State Fireman's association will meet at Reading from October 1 to 5. According to the rules of the association each company is allowed to elect one delegate every year, and all the old delegates retain their membership and are entitled to vote in the State Convention as long as they pay the annual dues of $2. Johnstown hopes to be selected as the place of meeting for the association next year.

—Mr. Hugh Taylor now feels very big. He has just been elected to serve in the capacity of superintendent of the gas plant. But this is not all, and it is not what is making him feel so big. The real cause of that is the appearance of his first-born, which made its appearance Thursday. Congratulations are now in order, and we can assure you that Hughy can accept them all in good style.

—Wednesday night burglars broke into the residence of Rev. G. H. Zehner, on Willowbank street, by prying open the front window with an iron bar. They secured a pocketbook belonging to Mrs. Zehner, which had been a present, and which she prized very highly because of that fact. In the pocketbook were about four dollars in money. After securing this the rascals left by the same window, pulling it down as they went out. As they were not seen there is no suspicion as to who the party or parties might have been.

—Dr. Ward departed Friday morning for Pine Grove where he goes to attend the funeral of his father, who died at his home in that place on Tuesday, the 27th. Mr. Joseph Ward was aged seventy years past, and was a native of Lebanon county. He came to this county when only a boy, and has lived here ever since. He was a carpenter by trade and a very industrious gentleman. In addition to the Doctor he leaves to mourn their loss nine additional children. His funeral occurred that after noon, interment at Pine Grove Mills.

DOINGS IN COUNCIL.

The Biggest End Was the Passing of the Bills.

Council convened on Monday evening with members Miller, Gerberich, Williams, Valentine, Brockerhoff, Brachbill, Bush and Keller present. Clerk Isaac Mitchell read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved as read.

Mr. Frank McCoy was present and complained about the people throwing so much garbage down over the embankment at the west end of Linn street. The matter was referred to the Nuisance committee.

The Street committee reported two crossings made on Bishop street, one on Spring, one on Allegheny and one on Jail Hill; also Spring street repaired south of Bishop street, a number of sewers and ditches opened up and a quantity of stone broken.

The Water committee reported that the pump was being run the usual number of hours to keep up the water supply. They also reported No. 2 boiler in a bad condition, and that it should be repaired at once. It needs a new plate and some five or six new flues. The estimated cost of these repairs would foot up about $100 to $125. The smokestack is also in a bad condition, and No. 1 boiler is also leaking. The council referred this matter to the Water committee with power to act.

The Fire and Police committee and the Nuisance committee had no reports to make. The Market committee reported $12.60 market fees collected during the past two weeks. The Finance committee reported the balance due the treasurer as $14,203.52.

At this juncture Joseph Wise made his appearance and notified council that he would not serve as Chief Fire Marshall, owing to the feeling that was again him in his own company. A committee was also present from the Undine Fire company to ask why it was that the candidate presented by them was refused by council, and also to inquire just what qualifications were necessary to make one eligible to the office of Chief Marshall. Mr. Wise refusing to serve Mr. Thomas Shaughensey also refused to act in the capacity of first assistant marshall. The council then concluded that the best thing that they could do was to refer the entire affair back to the fire companies for a new election of the respective officers; and so there will be a new election of these officers by the two companies.

Mr. S. H. Williams presented the request of Samuel Diehl for a grade for his pavement on Willowbank street. After due consideration, council concluded that they could not give Mr. Deihl a grade until the question of his property being out over the line, a suit to settle which is now pending in the courts, was settled one way or the other definitely.

The Street committee and Borough Engineer were instructed to go on Willowbank street and give the property owners there a grade and a profile to put down their pavements by.

No other business being before the house the following bills were approved and council adjourned:

Thos. Shaughensey, market clerk	$ 1.00
Isaac Mitchell copying notices	5.00

A Big Club Going.

The Bower Democratic Club held a meeting last night and the roll of all those who intend going to Williamsport was taken when it was found that fully one hundred and twenty-five intended to avail themselves of the low rate of fair to attend the State Democratic Convention in that city. They have also made arrangements to have the Undine band go with them, or, rather, the band will go down on Tuesday evening and be there to receive the club when it makes its appearance on Wednesday morning. The Bellefonte club expects to make a good showing and there is little doubt but that they will.

And just in this connection we desire to say that on Tuesday the Perry county convention instructed its delegates to support C. M. Bower for the Superior Judgeship nomination. This makes several counties that our fellow citizen now has and his chances are daily growing brighter. We wish him all success, for as there must be be one democrat on the bench we would sooner see Mr. Bower there han any other man we know of.

—George G. Hutchison, of Warriorsmark, has landed an appointment, Gov Hastings having named him as one of the delegates from Pennsylvania to the National Farmers' congress at Altanta, Georgia. The position, however, is long on honor, and short on salary.

—Don't forget the grand ox roast at Hecla Park on September 12. The affair is under the auspices of the Mystic Chain, which is an organization of fine young men, and perfect order will be maintained. It will attract the largest attendance of the season.

—Cards of invitation have been issued to the marriage reception of Miss Frances Loretta Walch, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Walch, of Lamar, Pa., the event to take place from 3 to 6 o'clock on Wednesday, the 18th. Mr. Christopher Nolan, of Bellefonte, will fill the part of bridegroom.

The "Texas Rangers."

The "Texas Rangers," of Tyrone, who passed east through Bellefonte about ten days ago on their way to Eagles Mere, arrived here Monday evening on their return trip. They looked sort of tired and dusty, but were as jolly a set of boys as when they started out. The bus left Lock Haven at eight o'clock in the morning and got in here at 5 in the evening. The boys encamped here for the night, and Tuesday morning pulled out at 7 o'clock for Tyrone, where they will arrive this evening and be tendered a banquet at the Central hotel by proprietor C. M. Waple.

In addition to the number of young men who started out the party has been increased by the addition of Joseph Wighaman, the amateur comedian of Tyrone, and Paul Zerbe, of Lock Haven. The young men report having had a most delightful trip and were treated most royally at every stopping place; and, in return, they desire through the NEWS to extend their warmest thanks to all parties with whom they came in contact. While in Bellefonte they rendered a number of delightful vocal serenades and were heartily applauded by their appreciative hearers.

Brothers 118 Years Apart.

Moses Chamberlain, now living at Milton, Pa., enjoys the distinction of being a brother of a man who was killed in battle 118 years ago. Such a thing would seem impossible at first thought, but it is a fact. Mr. Chamberlain is 83 years old, and was born 35 years after the battle of Germantown, (1777) in which his brother, aged 18 lost his life. The latter was the oldest of 24 children, and Mr. Chamberlain is the youngest.

Thursday's Big Show.

We are going to have Leon W. Washburn's Great Allied Shows, Big Three Ring Circus, Museum, Menagerie and Hippodrome here on Thursday September 5th 1895. To mention all the special acts and the names of the artists would take columns and the long lists of animals that are in the well selected menagerie are to numerous to catalogue. The hippodrome races are most exciting. The big and little elephants and the baby lions are among the special features.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cherry, departed Friday afternoon for Shamokin, where they went to attend the funeral of Mr. Cherry's aunt, Mrs. Katharine Moyer, of that place.

Mrs. S. H. Wilt, of Philadelphia, mother of Mrs. Clement Dale, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. Dale for some weeks, departed Tuesday morning for her home in the Quaker City.

A. A. Dale, Esq., finally went to Harrisburg and saw the entire affair through. There is not the least doubt but that Al. was just in his element all the time he was down there. The result was just what would suit him entirely.

County Chairman W. E. Gray was down at Harrisburg and took in the convention and he says that was hotter than blazes. Just "hot" in what way, though, he forgot to state; but we presume, that he meant in every way imaginable.

Clement Dale Esq., made a flying trip to Eagleville Friday evening on professional business. He returned Saturday morning. Mr. Dale is one of the busiest lawyers in town. He has charge of many large and valuable estates.

Mr. George W. Fisher, one the prominent citizens of Halfmoon township, is a witness in attendance at court this week. George does not get to Bellefonte very often but when he does he always calls around to see all his friends.

Isaiah Coxey, uncle of "General" J. S. Coxey, the famous Commonwealer, is the guest of his son, John Coxey, of 2400 Oak avenue. Mr. Coxey, who lives at Boalsburg, Centre county, is a hale and hearty gentleman of 57 years.—Altoona Times.

C. M. Bower, who during the past week has been ill in bed, has so far recovered as to be able to be up, although he has not yet ventured down stairs. Although his family did not know it until afterwards, Mr. Bower was a very sick man.

Mrs. J. V. Thomas and family expect to move to Philadelphia about the first of November. Bellefonte people will regret the departure of such desirable residents. It is probable that Mrs. Morris, of Philadelphia, will occupy the Thomas residence.

Mr. E. J. Haley, who for a number of years has held a position as assistant instructor in the experimental station at State College, has resigned that position and will depart this evening for Ridgway, where he has accepted the position of chemist for the tannery at that place.

To-day Mr. Hugh Beaver enters upon his work in the colleges of this state in connection with the Y. M. C. A. He is well fitted by nature, education and spiritual power for the duties. Owing to the high esteem in which Mr. Beaver is held, a farewell service was held at the Y. M. C. A. last evening in his honor.

Mrs. John T. Laurie departed this morning for Brockwayville, where she was called by an accident to her sister, who in some way fell on Tuesday and sustained a severe fracture of her limb. Her sister is Mrs. William Marshall, formerly of this place. We trust to soon hear of the speedy convalescence of that lady.

Having retired from the gas works in this place Mr. E. Kitson, wife and children will this week go to New York and on Saturday will set sail for Europe on a visit to his home in that place. They will be absent some time, and on their return will probably locate in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hergesheimer, of Devon, Pa., arrived in Bellefonte last Thursday and are now the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Conley. Mrs. H. will be well remembered as Miss Carrie Landis, formerly of this place. Her husband is a prominent citizen of Devon, being a druggist, a grocer and a justice of the peace, and a very sociable gentleman. They will remain about ten days.

Death of a Child.

The family of Mr. Ammon Gramley, son of ex-treasurer J. J. Gramley, is sadly afflicted. On last Saturday morning their youngest child, Grace, took snddenly ill with cholera infantum at 9 o'clock in the morning and died at 6 o'clock in the evening. She was aged just 1 year, 3 months and 6 days. The funeral was held on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment was made in the cemetery at Hublersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Gramley have three children left and on Friday one of those took sick, on Saturday another and on Sunday the third one, all with cholera morbus. Two of them have partly recovered but one, Miss Edna, aged about four years, is very low and the doctor has little hope of her recovery. The death of her one child and the illness of all her others has so prostrated Mrs. Gramley that she is unable to give them the necessary attention and the entire care devolves upon her husband. Mr. Gramley lives on his father's farm, just this side of Hublersburg, and at present his mother, Mrs. James J. Gramley, of this place, is with them helping to nurse the sick. Mr. Gramley is going down to-morrow to assist in putting out the fall's crops. We trust that those who are at present sick will soon recover their usual good health.

A Big Gas Leak.

Any one who may have happened along by the diamond as late as ten o'clock or later on Tuesday night would have imagined that natural gas had been struck right in the middle of Bellefonte. Up in front of the angel in the middle of the public square was a flame of fire about two feet in height and burning with a brilliancy and steadiness that betokened a good feed from some source. Upon inquiry, however, it was learned that the gas was from a leak in the gas main. Superintendent Taylor, who found the leak, is now of the opinion that this is only one of many similar leaks that may be found all over the town, and he proposes to hunt them all up. This may be where all the profits of this company have been going for some time past. And while they are at it, it might be well to examine the steam heat pipes as well, and perhaps they may then be able to account for the very short supply of steam heat in the cold winter months.

Autumn Sea Shore Excursion.

September is the most delightful month of the year on the New Jersey Coast; bathing, sailing and other interesting features of sea shore life are at their best during this the first of our fall months. Traveling at this season is far more enjoyable than the heated term, and while the regular summer excursion season is past the Central R. R. of Pa., will, for the benefit of those who have not had opportunity to take advantage of previous low rate excursions, run another cheap fare excursion to Atlantic City, Sea Isle City and Cape May on Monday, Sept. 9th. Don't forget the date. Tickets $5.75 for the round trip, good to return within ten days.

All for Louisville.

Mr. W. B Maitland informs us that already thirty-five persons have signified their intention of going to Louisville, Ky, to witness the National Encampment of the G. A. R. The special car from Bellefonte will leave on the 5.15 p. m. train Saturday evening, Sept. 7th, and will be run right through, arriving in Louisville Sunday evening about 7 o'clock.

Mr. Maitland also requests that any old comrades, or others, who desire or intend going, and have not yet notified the committee, will send their names to him at once.

Had 'Em Bad.

On Tuesday evening there was quite a little excitement up on Jail Hill, caused by a colored citizen having a bad attack of the blind staggers, or something like that. The fellow imagined that he was out hunting coons, and he was running one all around that part of the town. At one time he had it in a new house on Howard street and then again he had it in a sewer and tried to crawl in after it, but was hauled out by the legs. Those who saw him say that it was a bad attack, and about the best thing that he can do, is to touch it very lightly in the future.

Swept by a Cyclone

Of approbation to the pinnacle of popularity, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has acquired a commanding position, which has occasionally made it a bright and shining mark for knaves, who seek to foist upon the community spurious compounds in the guise akin to that of the real article. These are mostly local bitters or tonics of great impurity, and, of course, devoid of medicinal efficacy. Beware of them and get the genuine Bitters, a real remedy for malaria, rheumatism, kidney trouble, dyspepsia, nervousness, constipation and biliousness. Physicians of eminence everywhere commend the great invigorant, both for its remedial properties and its purity. A wineglass thrice a day will soon bring vigor and regularity to a disordered and enfeebled system.
